RAVAGES OF RABBITS.

In Some Sections of the Country the Loss Caused by the Little Roubens is Quite Serious.

In many of the less densely settled regions of our country, when snows are deep and food scarce, rabbits develop into a serious pest by gnawing the bark of fruit trees. Some items about this trouble from a recent bulletin by H. Garman, of the Kentucky station, may, therefore, not come amiss.

KENTUCKY RABBIT TRAP.

stability and keep the panels upright. Since the slats can be adjusted to any unevenness of the ground, it is possible to exclude anything that a fence can reasonably be expected to turn. The second type is made of shorter slats, three or four inches long, and these may be supplemented above by one or more wires stretched from post to post. J. Q. A. Rahm has built such a fence about his nursery. He uses slats three feet long, none less than half an inch thick, and sets his posts in spring, waiting until hot weather in August and September before putting up the slats in order to have the wire fully expanded at the start. The wires are simply crossed between the slats and are kept taut, while building, by a barrow loaded with about 1,000 pounds of stone and placed 100 to 400 yards ahead of the workmen. Near the barrow the wires are secured in a single tree made of a piece of stout timber, a log chain being passed around this and secured to a weighted barrow.

Rabbits are very easily caught, notwithstanding their well known cunning. One of the simplest and best traps used for the purpose is made of rough fence boards six inches wide and about two feet long. These pieces are nailed together so as to make an oblong box, one end of which is closed with a short piece of board, while the other is provided with a board consisting of another piece of board which slides down from above in grooves cut

RABBIT PROOF FENCE.

In the projecting sides or between slats nailed to the end, as shown in the cut. The bottom piece may also be allowed to project so as to make the door more secure when closed. A small hole is bored through the top at about the middle of the box, and midway between this and the door a stick is secured in an upright position. Across the top of this latter a second stick is secured by a nail in a notch made in the upright one so that it will see-saw up and down. A third stick of small size is notched near one end and secured at the opposite end by means of a piece of twine to the end of the larger invariable piece. This movable piece is now connected by twine at its forward end to the top of the door, when the trap is ready to set.

The door is elevated, the little stick passed through the hole in the top and secured by the notch to the front edge of the hole. When the rabbit enters, it pushes the projecting end of the stick before it, setting it free, allowing the suspended door to descend and thus cutting off its own escape. The traps may be baited with a piece of apple or cabbage placed in the end farthest from the door.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Vegetables in the Cellar. All vegetables keep better at a low temperature and, excepting in the severest weather, the cellar window may be kept open during the day, at least, if it is on the south side. It also helps to keep the cellar sweet and fresh. We know there is no need of an ill-smelling cellar. Vegetables properly buried and an open window in all suitable weather will prevent unsavory odors. Have a regular time for closing the window, as you do for any other "chore," and all will be well.

Isn't it Worth 25c. To Be Cured of Constipation
People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and thin and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and enfeebled and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidneys and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure. Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine. It tastes good. Children like it and ask for it. Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA Co., 122 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 26 Dearborn Street, Chicago.
