For State Senate.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 28TH SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

I take this method to inform you of my candidacy for the State Senate from this district, composed of the counties of Amelia, Cumberland, Lunenburg, Prince Edward and Nottoway, and solicit your support at the Primary to be held on Tuesday, July 30th. Being unknown to many of you, will say that I represented the county of Lunenburg in the last legislature and my record there is open to the inspection of all. I have been a Democrat all my life and done what I could to advance the cause of the party on all occasions. I make no claim for reward on that account, but simply state it for your information. Should you see fit to give me the nomination, I will use my earnest endeavors to make the best representative in my power, promising at all times to do what I believe a majority of my constituents wish. I regard any representative un rue to his trust who does not do this since it is not his wishes, but those of his constituents, that should be respected. Hoping that you will honor me by gratifying my ambition I beg to be,

Very Respectfully,
E. P. WALLACE.

MENELIK is a man of striking appearance. Capt. Powell Cotton of the British army found him sitting on cushions on a dais, surrounded by about 20 attendants, and he thus describes him: "His is a very dark, but not black face, marked by smallpox, rather even but not very white teeth, a short, grayish beard and whiskers, a face that is full of strength and shrewdness, quick in altering expression, and a pleasant smile and hearty laugh. His head was covered with white muslin, drawn tight on the skull. A fine rose-cut diamond in the left ear, a plain gypsy ring on the right hand, white trousers, a coat of green and yellow striped silk, a black satin cloak with gold braid and lined with pink, was his costume."

Gen. Sir Hugh Gough, G. C. B., who has entered his seventy-fourth year, has worn the Victoria Cross for nearly half a century. It has been said that he won it twice over in the fighting around Lucknow, and that is likely enough. Lord Roberts saw him win it the first time and has recorded with keen appreciation the daring cavalry charge that Gough led, and that so materially helped to complete the day's work. Sir Hugh has been keeper of the crown jewels in the tower since 1898.

"First thing you know" vacation time will soon be over and our Normal girls will all be back again walking on our smooth walkways, buying in our stores, worshipping in our churches. Time with some of us is flying all too fast, but when its flight means their return it means a blessing.

Those of us who are fortunate enough to have good homes in Farmville needn't go to mountain resort or seaside for comfort. We have it here in all its fulness and completeness. Our water, our air, our home comforts and our fare are as good as can be found beneath the stars. Go to the exposition and go no where else this summer.

Supervisors Annual Meeting.

The Prince Edward Board of Supervisors met in annual session on last Monday. All the members were present.

J. H. Garland, Superintendent of the poor house, presented his report showing receipts and disbursements for the year ending July 1st. It was examined by the Board and found to be correct. Following is a recapitulation of the report:

To total am't. warrants on treasurer	$1,067 99
Am't. paid out by Supervisors, J. H. Garland's salary and Mrs. Garland's Salary	223 19
	$1,290 18
By cash from sale tobacco, pigs, &c.	$160 00
To bal. expenditures in excess of receipts	$1,130 18

T. H. Bruce, deputy treasurer for W. H. Ewing, presented lists of all delinquent lands, insolvent capitation, personal property and improper assessments for the year 1907, which lists were examined and approved.

Owing to the inability of W. H. Ewing, treasurer, to make his annual report at this meeting, it was ordered that the fixing of the county levy be postponed until the next meeting.

The salaries of county officers for the year commencing July 1st, were fixed as follows: Attorney for the Commonwealth, $500; Sheriff, including attendance on Board, $512; County Clerk, $900; Clerk of the Board, $50; Commissioner of the Revenue, $450; Superintendent of Poor, $225.

The clerk was instructed to inform the Town Council of Farmville that hereafter the town's paupers supported at the poor house will be charged for at the rate of $10 per month for each person instead of $7 as heretofore.

E. L. Dupuy and A. A. Haskins were appointed a committee to purchase two mules for the road force, and to dispose of two of the old ones now in use.

Informal Piano Recital.

The members of the Summer Institute, of the Methodist choir, and a few town people who could be reached at the moment, enjoyed an unexpected pleasure on Wednesday evening, July 17th, at 9 o'clock, when Dr. August Schemmel, of Washington, gave an informal piano recital in the auditorium of the Normal School.

Despite the fatigue of recent travel, the heat of the evening, and the slight confusion incident to such a hurried gathering, Dr. Schemmel appeared to advantage in a programme including works of Beethoven, Chopin, Hayden, Wagner and compositions of his own.

The great variety of effects ranging from the heavy, thunderous passages of the selection from the "Valkyrie" to the delicate simplicity of the Hayden "Serenade" displayed the technique and feeling of an artist.

Dr. and Mrs. Schemmel spent Wednesday and Thursday in Farmville looking over the field with a view to establishing a conservatory of music here next fall. Should they decide to do so, they will receive a hearty welcome from those who love the best in music.

Very Delightful Evening.

Miss Lucy Knight Dunnington entertained a few friends at her home, "Poplar Hill," last Tuesday evening in honor of her guests.

A progressive supper was served in four courses. After supper cards were played until quite a late hour. Those present were Miss Mabel O'Ferrall, of Richmond, with Mr. A. V. Wade; Miss Andrews, of Lynchburg, with Mr. W. C. Duvall; Miss Abott, of Lynchburg, with Mr. Frank S. Blanton, and Dr. R. L. Hudgins.

Miss Dunnington is a charming hostess and her friends were given a delightful evening.

A Great Picnic.

One hundred and more of the young lady teachers attending the Summer Normal School were treated on Saturday last to an outing and picnic, the like of which has never before been witnessed here. Special praise is due to Mr. Cox for his splendid management on the occasion. He had prepared in great abundance everything in the edible line and arranged for the general pleasure and entertainment of all. There was scarcely a thing which could be had in the Farmville market not upon the table, and after all had partaken to their content, the merriment of the throng of teachers was resumed. The enjoyment of the day was greatly enhanced by a band of string instruments thoughtfully furnished by Mr. Cox.

It's Well to Remember This.

Don't forget that your neighbor though he differs from you may be just as honest in his convictions as you, that this is a free country where freedom of opinion is one of the biggest of the broad foundation-stones of our government, and there would be an end of that form of government without it. Be tolerant, therefore, or rather not tolerant but rational, patriotic and good-natured. Stand by your convictions and let your neighbor stand by his if so disposed, and bear in mind, that just as you have made up your mind unalterably as to the way in which you will vote, ninety-nine hundredths of the voting population have done the same thing.

A Statement From W. H. Hubbard.

A statement made by W. B. Gates of work done for W. H. Hubbard as supervisor, on road leading from Rice on Sandy River public road. I make this statement for some of my friends at Rice precinct:

Double team	10 days	$2.00	$20.00
Hands	29 days	1.00	29.00
Self	5½ days	1.50	8.25
			$57.25
I thought the above an excessive price for the work and so I deducted			$10.75
			$46.50

This was total amount spent on road from March to July and includes one bridge abutment.

That Rabbit Story.

Editor Herald:—I notice in the Herald of last week a paragraph in which my name was mentioned in a big rabbit story, and while the story was really in excess of the facts, as reported, yet I do not propose to curtail it one particle, but intend to stick to my original assertion. I am not like the boy who saw 40 squirrels, who when his father shamed him with the unreasonable number compromised by declaring that he would just be blamed if he did not see a bush shake.

We should all be more charitable, and the author of the paragraph ought to remember that, "As bad as he is, the Devil can be falsely charged and causelessly abused, accused when men unwilling to be blamed alone, try to shift on him the sins which really are their own." Give us fair play, gentlemen, and let our motto be "Justicia fiat suat coelum."

We shall expect in this week's issue to have the next thing in order—a big fish story, and we say in advance that nothing will satisfy us short of one that will by far exceed that little episode of Jonah and the whale.

Fifty-Eight Years Ago.

Editor Herald:—In my wanderings I met recently with a venerable gentleman, now 82 years of age, who in his young man days knew the people of Prince Edward and of Farmville well. He has still a lively interest in all that concerns the county and the town and fired questions at me in a lively manner.

It has been 58 years since he was in Farmville and there is but one person living there who he knew. He recalled the old homesteads of the county and the inmates of the olden day, but not one of them is now living. He would love to revisit the old scenes, but said with tender and loving interest: "My wife is not well, I cannot leave home." What a stranger he would now be on your Main street or walking up High street. He had many friends in Prince Edward and Farmville and no doubt agrees with the one who wrote, "what wealth it is to have such friends that we cannot think of them without elevation."

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

Old-Fashion Mother.

Thank God some of us have, and others have had, an old-fashioned mother. Not a woman of the period, enameled and painted, with her great chignon, her curles and bustle; whose white, jewelled hands never have felt the clasp of baby fingers; but a dear the sweet, sweet-voiced mother, old-fashioned which the love light with eyes in hair threaded with shone, and brown upon her faded silver, lying smooth worn with cheek. Those dear hands steps toil, gently guided our tottering all-in childhood, and smoothed our lows in sickness; even reaching out to us in yearning tenderness, when her sweet spirit was baptized in the pearly spray of the river. Blessed is the memory of an old-fashioned mother. It floats to us now, like the beautiful perfume of some woodland blossoms. The music of other voices may be lost but the entrancing memory of her's will echo in our souls forever. Other places will fade away and be forgotten, but her's will shine on until the light from heaven's portals shall glorify our own.

When in the fitful pauses of busy life our feet wander back to the old homestead, and crossing the well-worn threshold, standing once more in the low, quaint room, as hallowed by her presence, how the feeling of childish innocence and dependence comes over us, and we kneel down in the mottled sunshine streaming through the western window—just where, long years ago, we knelt by our mother's knee, lisping "Our Father." How many times when the tempter lured us on has the memory of those sacred hours, that mother's words, her faith and prayers, saved us from sin. Years have filled great drifts over between her and us, but they have not hidden from our sight the glory of her pure, unselfish love.

Love of the Beautiful.

Place a young girl under the care of kind-hearted women, and she, unconsciously to herself, grows into a graceful lady. Place a boy in the establishment of a thoroughgoing, straightforward business man, and the boy becomes a self-reliant, practical business man. Children are susceptible creatures, and circumstances, scenes and actions always impress. As you influence them, not by arbitrary rules, nor by stern example alone, but a thousand other ways that speak through beautiful forms, pretty pictures, etc., so they will grow. Teach your children, then, to love the beautiful. Give them a corner in the garden for flowers; encourage them to put it in the shape of hanging baskets; show them where they can best view the sunset; rouse them in the morning, not with the stern "time to go to work," but with the enthusiastic "see the beautiful sunrise." Buy for them pretty pictures and encourage them to decorate their rooms in his or her childish way. Give them an inch and they will go a mile. Allow them the privilege and they will make your home beautiful.

The Elder Sister.

There is no character in the home circle more useful and beautiful than a devoted elder sister who stands side by side with the toiling mother, lightening all her cares and burdens. How beautiful the household machinery moves on with such efficient help! Now she presides at the table in her mother's absence, always so neatly attired that it is with pride the father introduces her to his guest as "our oldest daughter." Now she takes a little troop into the garden with her and amuses them, so mother may not be disturbed in her work or her rest. Now she helps the boys with their hard lessons or reads father's paper aloud to rest his tired eyes. If mother can run away for a few days' recreation she leaves home without any anxiety, for Mary will guide her house wisely and happily in her absence. But in the sick room her presence is an especial blessing. Her hand is next to mother's own in gentleness and skill. Her sweet music can charm any pain, and brighten the weariest hours. There are elder sisters whose presence is not such a blessing in the home. Their own selfish ends and aims are the main pursuits in life, and anything that stands in the way of these is regarded with great impatience. Such daughters are no comfort to a mother's heart. Which kind of an elder sister are you in the household?

Cultivate Gracefulness.

The chief distinction in society between the "attentions" of the thoroughly graceful gentleman, and one who simply knows the rules, is that the former pays them without attracting notice. A lady hardly realizes that anything is done for her—she only knows that the gentleman is agreeable.

Does the young man ask how he shall cultivate this unconscious gracefulness? Some men, the reader says, have the gift by nature. True—but with rare exceptions, nature declines to make her gift available without culture and care. There is but one way to cultivate the case of which we speak. Never willingly allow an opportunity to pay a graceful attention pass without taking advantage of it. Never, we say, not even with the sister, or mother, or most intimate cousinly friend. It is a mistake to regard these things as "too formal"—they are formal only when they are awkward. There is not a single polite attention called for in society which is not appropriate at home. If a sister drops a handkerchief, do not give her an opportunity to pick it up herself—unless you wish to be constrained and slightly awkward when you are called upon to pick up a handkerchief in the drawing room. If a mother is getting into a carriage, offer her a hand, even if it is purely a matter of form.

Nor are these attentions of young men to their near relatives valuable and called for only as matters of practice. Genuine politeness demands them at home as well as in society.

It was a delightful picnic given at Miller's pond Saturday. The only misfortune was that it was the warmest day we have had this season. Herman, the youngest son of W. B. Spencer, merchant and postmaster here, was terribly hurt on Tuesday by the kick of a horse he had been plowing. The blow was square in the forehead, an inch or so above the left eye, cutting a gash 3 inches long and crushing the bone so terribly that the surgeons in attendance removed 3 pieces each as large as a quarter of a dollar.

Doctors Nowlen and Mitchell were gotten to the wounded boy as quickly as possible, and under the influence of chloroform he was operated on, his head shaved, the pieces of bone removed. Last night he was resting comfortably, although he has no remembrance of the incident, and does not know what hurt him. The doctors have strong hopes of his recovery, although the wound is so deep and in such a vital spot.

YOUR GRANDMOTHER USED IT.

But She Never Had Sulphur in Such Convenient Form as This.

Your grandmother used Sulphur as her favorite household remedy, and so did her grandmother. Sulphur has been curing skin and blood diseases for a hundred years. But in the old days they had to take powdered sulphur. Now HANCOCK'S LIQUID SULPHUR gives it to you in the best possible form and you get the full benefit.

HANCOCK'S LIQUID SULPHUR and OINTMENT quickly cure Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum and all Skin Diseases. It cured an ugly ulcer for Mrs. Ann W. Willett, of Washington, D. C., in three days.

Taken internally, it purifies the blood and clears the complexion. Your druggist sells it. Sulphur Booklet free if you write HANCOCK LIQUID SULPHUR COMPANY, Baltimore.

White Collars.

Editor Herald:—I was very much impressed the other day with an outfit which passed me on the road. A handsome pair of bays, a beautiful buggy, a pretty girl dressed in white, a manly fellow holding the reins and spotlessly white collars on the horses. The latter made deepest impression on me as I do not recollect to have seen them in use before.

They gave a "tony" appearance to the whole turnout and made things look real stylish.

The auto isn't in it when compared with such turnouts. O.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Farmville Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headache, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Farmville testimony:

W. H. Burger, Sr., retired butcher, who lives a mile outside of Farmville, Va., says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills to be an excellent remedy for backache and other kidney troubles. I was annoyed for a long time with backache, a dull aching pain down low across my back, which at times became quite severe. The kidney secretions became highly colored and sediment like brick dust was visible. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I got a box at H. C. Crute's drug store. They proved very satisfactory as they drove away my backache and cleared up the kidney secretions. I do not hesitate in recommending so valuable a remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Quick Cooking.

Editor Herald:—My landlady went down town last Saturday evening to make purchases for Sunday and returning just 50 minutes before the usual supper hour found to her horror that the cook hadn't even made a fire in the stove. Having nine boarders, and all men in the business who were dependent on meals at regular hours, she addressed herself to the work of preparing that meal and in 30 minutes by the clock it was on the table. The bill of fare consisted of excellent hash (none of your "boarding house hash" either), fried potatoes, better than the Jefferson ever had, quick muffins, of course they were quick, but they were also light and brown and hot, sliced tomatoes, cold tea, &c., &c. While I was enjoying the supper I took occasion to compliment it, and then the little woman gave me the history of its preparation. And why all this lament about the utter worthlessness of household help when one little woman can prepare such a meal in 30 minutes?

Ninety minutes a day devoted to cooking leaves a good margin for play time. The wonder to me is that the factory girls and the store girls don't greatly prefer household work, but that they don't is a well recognized truth.

As was suggested in the Herald of last week girls should be taught to cook, and then when they get in the trouble this little woman found herself they will know just how to work out of it, and come out of it as "cheerful as a cricket." BOARDER.
