Doing Their Duty.

Scores of Farmville Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow:

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Mrs. Mary E. Lample, living at 1720 Elm St., Lynchburg, Va., says: "I gave a statement in 1904 when Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble and I am now pleased to testify to their merits a second time as I have remained cured. Prior to using Doan's Kidney Pills I was suffering so severely from backache that I was scarcely able to drag myself about and the pains through my loins often became so severe that I was unable to sit down and rest. I also had difficulty with the kidney secretions which were very weak and attended with pain. It only required a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills to relieve the trouble and I was so encouraged that I continued their use and the pains in my back disappeared, and the other symptoms were corrected. I am glad to re-endorse everything I said in my previous statement pertaining to Doan's Kidney Pills."

BRYAN AT CAPITAL.

Senator Newlands Gives Dinner In His Honor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Senator Newlands of Nevada gave a dinner last night in honor of William J. Bryan, who is a guest of the senator at Woodley, his country residence. Those invited to the dinner were one-half of the Democratic members of the senate according to the alphabetical arrangement of names in the congressional directory. Senator Newlands has arranged for a similar dinner this evening, when the other half of the Democratic senators will be invited. The invited guests last night were Senators Bacon, Bailey, Bankhead, Clarke, Clay, Culberson, Daniel, Jeff Davis, Foster, Frazier, Johnston, Latimer and McCreary. Senator Bailey of Texas was not present.

Senator Newlands declared that no political significance attaches to the dinner. He added, however, that Democratic policies in matters of legislation might be discussed.

Mr. Bryan before leaving the dinner dictated, in response to a request, the following interview, setting forth briefly his views on the financial situation:

"Lack of public confidence is what drives money out of circulation. Restore public confidence and money returns to its accustomed channels. For lack of confidence the best remedy is insurance of bank deposits, and I have urged upon the various states and congress the passage of some measure similar to the law adopted by Oklahoma."

In the afternoon Mr. Bryan spent three-quarters of an hour closeted with Speaker Cannon in the speaker's room. Afterward he said that they had not seriously discussed politics.

UNIQUE ACQUITTAL.

F. P. Messina Set Free by Failure to Prove the "Corpus Delicti."

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A murder case in Brooklyn was strangely and abruptly halted and the defendant set free when the widow of the murdered man declined to admit that it was her husband who had been killed. It is said the failure to prove the "corpus delicti" was the first instance in murder trials in Brooklyn.

Francisco P. Messina, an Italian importer, was on trial for the killing of Giovanni Flandini. The trial was proceeding smoothly when Mrs. Flandini surprised the prosecution by declining to say whether the dead man was her husband or to even state that her husband was dead.

Assistant District Attorney Roy, having no one else to call to the witness stand who knew Flandini when he was alive and had seen him dead, ended the trial, but not until he had informed Judge Dike that after the shooting Mrs. Flandini had told him circumstances of her husband's death.

Haitian Revolt About Ended.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Jan. 28.—The government troops have occupied Gonaives without meeting with any resistance. Strict disciplinary measures were taken to insure the safety of residents and property. General Antenor Firmin, who was one of the leaders in the present uprising, with a number of his partisans, has taken refuge in the consulates. The French cruiser d'Estrees is lying in the roadstead at Gonaives.

WEDS A HUNGARIAN

Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, the Bride, Has Millions.

COUNT SZECHENYI HER CHOICE.

Union of American Heiress and Nobleman Called Romantic Love Match—Young Couple Off For Newport Villa.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—In the famous Vanderbilt mansion at Fifth avenue and Fifty-seventh street, in this city, Miss Gladys, youngest daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, cousin of the Duchess of Marlborough and one of the richest of American heiresses, became the bride of Count Laszlo Jeno Maria Henrik Simon Szechenyi, a young Hungarian noble of ancient lineage and comfortable fortune.

The bride's dress was of white satin, and a fortune in precious old lace was spent in its trimming. The bridal veil is the one worn by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt long years ago when she herself was a bride.

The floral decorations alone cost a substantial fortune, as it was an orchid wedding, each blossom in the wealth of bloom representing $1.

Standing under a bridal arbor of orchids, Count Szechenyi and Gladys Vanderbilt made their vows. Streamers of orchids trailed from the bridal bower to the lofty ceilings of the drawing room.

Banks of orchids masked the tall windows, and immense clusters gleamed in fantastic designs on its tapestried walls.

Behind a screen of orchids and tropical plants the red surpliced choir of St. Patrick's cathedral sang during the wedding service.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Mgr. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's cathedral, the bride's attendants being Miss Ruth Vanderbilt Twombley and Miss Dorothy Whitney. Count Anton Sigray, who recently arrived here with Count Dionys and his wife and Count Paul Esterhazy, was the best man. The bride's brother, Cornelius, gave his sister in marriage to the count. After the ceremony a breakfast was served, to which some 250 invitations had been issued. The Vanderbilt home was superbly arranged and decorated, and one of the features of the ceremony was the superb music of a large orchestra.

The wedding gifts exceed $1,000,000 in value and are guarded day and night by detectives and special police.

The young couple left in the afternoon for Newport, where Mrs. Vanderbilt's home, The Breakers, has been prepared for them. There they will remain until Feb. 4, when they will sail for Europe.

Both the prominence of the bride's family in the social and financial life of this country and the romantic circumstances of her choice of a husband lend the ceremony an unusual degree of public interest. Last summer Miss Vanderbilt became of age and under the provision of her father's will entered into possession of her share of his great fortune, estimated at from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Ever since her coming out a few years ago rumor has been busy engaging Miss Vanderbilt to numberless young Americans as well as to an endless succession of titled foreigners.

Count Laszlo is a handsome man of twenty-eight, slender and straight, his bearing betraying his military training and devotion to out of door sports.

Count Laszlo is said to have an income of some $60,000 a year and owns both town and country estates.

Scared From His Deathbed by Storm.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 28.—A tornado swept through the northeastern portion of Etowah county. At Coats Bend several dwellings were destroyed. The home of Bod McCurdy was struck and crumbled like an eggshell. A seventy-five-year-old bachelor brother of McCurdy was on what was thought to be his deathbed. In fear, the sick man jumped up and fled from the house and got out of the way of harm.

UNDER OUR OWN FLAG.

Secretary Taft Quizzed as to Filipino Slaves.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—To congress and through it to the world at large President Roosevelt announces that it will probably be a generation, it may even be longer, before the Filipinos will be fit for complete self government and ready to decide whether they shall be independent of American rule.

In his judgment, the next fifty years will see the greatest development in the world on the Pacific, and he said: "It seems to me we ought to be in it."

Greatly to the surprise of every one the subject of slavery was introduced in the senate. Secretary Taft was directly charged with having a knowledge of slavery in the Islands. The debate was made pertinent by the sections of the bill revising the criminal code of the United States, which provide penalties for dealing in slaves.

Mr. Hale asserted that such provisions should be stricken out, as he regarded slavery as obsolete in the United States, and he could see no reason for referring to it. Senator Heyburn, in charge of the bill, declared that not only is there immoral traffic in white slaves, but that vestly labor in the form of practical slavery does exist and added that actual human slavery is still maintained in the Philippine Islands.

Mr. Hale declared, however, that he had never supposed slavery existed in the Island after the American occupation.

"I am surprised," asserted Mr. Tillman, who was quickly on his feet, "to hear any senator on the Republican side disclaim knowledge of what has been notorious since we took possession in the Philippines and known to exist there."

Mr. Tillman said he was still more surprised that "the party which had gathered so much glory from the destruction of slavery in this country" and which has absolute control of our foreign affairs had done nothing to put an end to the slave trade in the Philippines.

"Why don't the men," he asked, "who are responsible for the Philippine government enforce the law?"

Mr. Tillman suggested that the Philippine Islands are governed by Secretary Taft under the president of the United States.

"OUIDA" DIES IN POVERTY.

Famous Writer, Louisa de la Ramee, Passes Away Near Florence.

FLORENCE, Italy, Jan. 28.—"Ouida," the novelist, whose name was Louisa de la Ramee, is dead at Viareggio, a seacoast village near here, after an illness of several months. She expired in the arms of an old serving woman, her only attendant. The immediate cause of death was asthma complicated by heart disease. Besides senile ills, she had suffered the privations of poverty in recent years.

"Ouida" had a passionate fondness for dogs and up to the very last was surrounded by many of them, depriving herself even of the necessaries of life to feed them.

Daughter of an English father and a French mother, Louisa was born at Bury St. Edmunds, England. She became a cosmopolitan. She loved Italy and lived there for her last thirty-three years. America she detested. She spoke three languages perfectly and read easily half a dozen others.

Louisa de la Ramee in her baby days tried to pronounce her first name and lisped "Ouida." It became her pet name.

In 1863 she began to write. Her first book was "Held In Bondage." In 1907 she found herself in the bondage of poverty. She wrote more than forty novels. The best perhaps are "Under Two Flags," "Chandos," "Strathmore," "Tricotrin" and "In Maremma." Besides, she wrote many dramatic sketches, critical studies and magazine articles.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—By the will of Morris K. Jesup, the financier and philanthropist, $1,000,000 is left to the American Museum of Natural History, $100,000 to the Brick Presbyterian church of this city, $8,000 to the Congregational church of Westport, Conn., where he was born; $2,500 to the Congregational church at Lenox, Mass., and $5,000 to the Westport library. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to his widow for life and after her death to his heirs.

Fire Stops Business at Portland.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 28.—A dozen business houses in the wholesale district suspended business because of the fire which destroyed the brick block containing the wholesale dry goods establishment of Milliken, Cousens & Co. and the shoe jobbing house of A. F. Cox & Son. Owing to the danger from falling walls, the police maintained fire lines at safe distances that prevented the transaction of business at these places. The loss is $1,000,000.

Franco Fears Bomb Throwers.

LISBON, Jan. 27.—Although the government apparently is master of the situation, much nervousness is manifested in official circles following the plot to overthrow the monarchy and establish Portugal as a republic. Premier Franco, upon the advice of the police, sleeps each night in a different house, surrounded by cavalry, to avoid the bomb throwers.

AN OUTING FOR THAW

Dowling May Hold Court at Blackwell's Island Tonight.

TO TAKE ABE HUMMEL'S TESTIMONY

Verdict In the Famous Roof Garden Tragedy May Come Wednesday. Foreign Doctors Call It "Manic Depressive" Insanity.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Thaw defense closed its case with "manic depressive" insanity as the explanation of the death of Stanford White at the hands of the young Pittsburg millionaire. The prosecution will now begin its evidence in rebuttal, and the case should go to the jury by Wednesday night or Thursday noon. District Attorney Jerome has applied for the appointment of a commission to take the testimony of Abraham Hummel, the disbarred and convicted lawyer, who is confined in the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island and who is said to be too ill to appear in court. Mr. Littleton of the defense said he would oppose any such action, whereupon Justice Dowling announced that if necessary he would go to the island himself tonight in company with the defendant and his counsel to preside at the taking of Hummel's testimony. The jury, it was stated, would not be compelled to take the night trip across the river. Thaw seemed delighted at the prospect of the outing, even to the grim shores of New York city's penal colony, and smiled broadly at the court's suggestion.

District Attorney Jerome disappointed a crowded courtroom when he refrained from his tactics of last year in baiting the expert witnesses for the defense, three of whom—Drs. Wagner, Evans and Wells—declared that Thaw at the time he killed Stanford White was suffering from such a defect of reason as not to know the nature or quality of his act or that the act was wrong.

It was left to Justice Dowling to make a most important inquiry of the alienists. He desired to know the exact nature of "manic depressive" insanity and if the attacks were likely to recur. He also asked if a person suffering from this form of insanity would be likely to commit assaults. He learned that it was a recurrent form of mental disorder, the attacks coming suddenly and without warning, a period of insanity being followed by a maniacal outburst, then by a period of complete depression and then by another lucid interval. It seemed that the presiding judge was securing information upon which to predicate judicial action in the event of a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity or of a straight acquittal. Even in the latter event, it was pointed out, Justice Dowling would have the right to have Thaw committed for examination.

Following Dr. Bingaman came the first of the foreign witnesses, Dr. Sydney Russell Wells of London, who was called to attend Thaw in the English capital in the early part of 1899.

"Mr. Thaw was in a very nervous condition," said Dr. Wells. "His pulse was extremely rapid, and he complained of pains in the head. I diagnosed his case as one of mental disturbance." On one of his visits to the defendant, the witness said, he found his patient in a highly excitable state despite the fact that his temperature was only 99 degrees. He feared Thaw might harm himself. Thaw did not respond to treatment, even opiates failing, and Dr. Wells said he decided to send the young man to the Devonshire Nursing Association's hospital. On another visit he found Thaw dancing about the room like a madman. He reported his case at the hospital as acute mania.

Takahira Explains Jap Question.

ROME, Jan. 28.—King Victor Emmanuel again received Baron Takahira, the Japanese ambassador, who will leave here on Feb. 1 for the United States. The king displayed great interest in the Japanese-American relations, and the ambassador went quite fully into the questions that have arisen between the two governments, particularly with regard to emigration of the Japanese to America. He explained that Japan did not wish to send emigrants to that country and for years had refused passports. The emigrants, however, get in through Hawaii, Mexico and Canada. He declared that the only way to stop them was for congress to promulgate a law barring all objectionable emigrants.

Moors Repulsed by French Columns.

TANGIER, Jan. 27.—The Zenatals and Ouled Ali tribes, which attacked the French troops, were repulsed with severe loss after four hours' fighting. The French Littoral and Medjouna columns had just effected a junction when the tribesmen, in battle array covering a front of about four miles, swept down in crescent formation. The Spahis bore the brunt of the attack, making several gallant charges.

Police In Argentina Assembly.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 28.—Following the promulgation of an executive decree closing the congress large forces of police occupied the congressional building to prevent the senators and deputies from attempting to take possession. The troops are still confined to barracks. At present there are no indications of disturbances anywhere.

MOVE MRS. M. B. EDDY.

Head of Scientists' Church Now at Brookline, Mass.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 28.—Mrs. Mary G. Baker Eddy, founder and head of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, left her home, Pleasantview, here and by a circuitous route in a special train went to Chestnut Hill, Brookline, to take up a permanent home in a house recently purchased by the Christian Scientists. Mrs. Eddy was accompanied by her secretary, Calvin A. Frye; Archibald McLennan, one of the trustees for Mrs. Eddy's property; Rev. Irving C. Tomlinson, a Christian Science "reader," and a dozen other men and women of the Christian Science belief.

Mrs. Eddy was guarded with the utmost secrecy, and every detail of the journey was shrouded in the deepest mystery.

Arriving in Brookline, the party was taken to the late residence of Amory A. Lawrence, one of the most beautiful in all the Boston suburbs.

When the Lawrence house was reached, one by one the men and women of the party alighted and, gathering about the massive porch at the front entrance, stood in line on either side from the carriage steps to the house. When the carriage of Mrs. Eddy drove up to the porch, Calvin A. Frye was to first to leave it, and following him came the other man. Leaning back into the carriage, the big man, powerful of limb, gathered up the frail form of Mrs. Eddy. Wrapped in a long sealskin cape, with a black bonnet trimmed with violets on her head and with hands protected by white gloves, she was carried gently up the steps in the big man's arms through the long line of people who murmured softly as she passed. Then she was taken upstairs in the house and placed in what will be her own private room on the front or Commonwealth avenue side.

Alfred Farcew, head of the Christian Science publicity bureau, said that Mrs. Eddy desires to be nearer the mother church on Falmouth street, Boston; hence the removal.

CAPITOL GRAFTERS.

Architect Huston May Turn State Witness.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 28.—The feature of the trial of the capitol fraud prosecutions, which began here before President Judge Kunkel, was the agreement of the commonwealth to a separate trial for Architect Joseph M. Huston.

Huston is under indictment on thirty charges of conspiracy, involving $157,485. He is also under indictment on two charges of false pretense, involving $13,800.

Huston designed the capitol and the furnishings, his commissions on which aggregated $415,631.

The commonwealth objected to the motions of Huston's four codefendants for separate trials, which motions were overruled by the court.

The action of the commonwealth in agreeing to a separate trial for Huston has given rise to a rumor that the architect will turn state's evidence and tell all he knows of the alleged frauds in the furnishing of the new capitol.

The alacrity with which the commonwealth agreed to a separate trial for Huston evidently was a surprise to the attorneys for the defendants—Contractor John H. Sanderson, former Auditor General William P. Snyder, former State Treasurer William L. Mathues and James M. Shumaker, former superintendent of grounds and buildings. The attorneys for these defendants immediately asked that the court take a recess for fifteen minuets to give them an opportunity to consult.

The taking of testimony in Sanderson's trial opened today, and counsel for the state declared that it had been defrauded out of $19,908.40 in payments of $40,417 for sofas, tables and clothes trees. This furniture was supplied by Sanderson at the rate of $18.40 "per foot."

Jack London at Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Jack London, who left here last May on a seven year trip around the world to procure material for literary work and for whose safety fears have been entertained, returned to San Francisco on the steamship Mariposa from Tahiti. The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute" says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee Imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—here he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Chas. Bugg & Son.
