A FATAL EXPLOSION

Mother and Four Children Killed by Gasoline Blowup.

Five persons were killed by an explosion of gasoline in the home of Joseph Belica, 3511 West Sixty-fourth street, Chicago.

Three of the family, the mother and two children, died before medical aid could be summoned, and two other children died on the way to St. Bernard's hospital.

The victims of the explosion are: Mrs. Anna Belica, thirty years old; Stephen Belica, aged eight years; Joseph Belica, five months old; Anna Belica, three years old, and Francis Belica, aged five years.

Mr. Belica was filling the tank of the gasoline stove, when there was a deafening explosion. The four children were with their mother in the kitchen at the time, while Mr. Belica was in the front part of the cottage.

MARRIED ON TRAIN

Elopers Have Minister Tie Knot Between Stations.

An elopement of a well known young couple of Rochester, N. H., with a marriage ceremony performed on a train, has caused great interest in social circles.

The principals were Miss Lucia M. Greenfield, aged nineteen, and Harold W. Saunders, aged twenty-one. Miss Greenfield, without the knowledge of her parents, took a train and met Saunders at Ossipee, where the marriage license was procured.

BUTCHER VICTIM OF BULL

Dies as Result of Being Gored by Savage Animal.

Gored by a savage bull on Saturday, Ignatz Roll, an experienced meat cutter employed by the Fuhrman Packing company at Lancaster, Pa., died as the result of the injuries received on that day.

Roll was driving the bull to the slaughter block when the animal turned on him. He was knocked down, one ear was torn off and he sustained a fractured skull.

THE SAVIOR'S TEACHINGS BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

SUCH SHALL NOT INHERIT THE KINGDOM OF GOD.

Galatians 5:15-26—September 23.

"If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit."

ST. PAUL was a practical man, not merely a theorist; he brought his teaching down to a practical level which his readers could comprehend. Today's Study is one of these.

The Christian has, so to speak, stepped out of his old self and become a New Creature, a Spirit being, which merely resides in the flesh and has interests that are distinctly separate and often antagonistic thereto.

In order that none might make a mistake as to what would constitute the desires of the flesh, the Apostle recites them and declares that they are manifest or openly discernible, namely: "Fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, strife, jealousies, wraths, factions, divisions, heresies, envyings, drunkenness, revelings and such like, of the which I forewarn you, that they which practise such things shall not inherit the Kingdom of God."

The Apostle does not here say that if anyone were overtaken in a fault and lost his temper, for instance, and got into strife, that this would bar him forever from the Kingdom. He might, indeed, through tears and prayers and Divine forgiveness, come back into harmony with God and subsequently become a valued soldier of the Cross and follower of the Lamb.

If the Apostle led us into a tangled wildwood of human selfishness, thorns and thistles, as a specimen of the fruitage of the fallen flesh, he next leads us in the opposite direction, and shows us the fruits and flowers of sweet odor which belong to the Garden of the Lord. He tells us that these delightful fruits of the Spirit should more and more be cultivated, and should be developed to perfection in our hearts.

The Apostle explains that those who have become Christ's followers have crucified the flesh with the passions and desires thereof. They have voluntarily agreed that they will live contrary to the emotions and desires of the fallen flesh. He urges, if we live by the Spirit, by the Spirit let us also walk!
