Botanic Infirmary.

DOCT. BENJAMIN THOMPSON, founder of the Concord Botanic Infirmary, feeling a deep interest in the cause of suffering humanity, and determined to use his utmost exertions to complete that reform in medical practice which has already so gloriously commenced, has opened an Infirmary in the Mansion House, on Burlington square. The unparalleled success which has attended his practice in New York, Boston and Concord, in which places he has had several thousand patients under his care, (more, probably than any other practitioner in the civilized world in the same time,) will be a sufficient guaranty of the confidence of the intelligent community of Vermont. Those who are acquainted with the Thompsonian system of practice from personal knowledge, need no commendation of its truly wonderful virtues. "To such," (as says the venerable Dr. Benj. Waterhouse, for many years professor of Materia Medica in the University of Cambridge) "it is the anchor of hope—the most invaluable of earthly blessings." But with those who have never had an opportunity of witnessing its health-preserving and restoring influences, it is the part of common sense and discretion, not to lightly examine its claims, and not [as has too often been the case] condemn the Botanic Physician untried and unheard.

Doct. Thompson, although he is unwilling to assume and defend the mal-practice which has characterized some of the pretended Thompsonian practitioners, seeks not to hide himself from public scrutiny, but solicits free and fair discussion, and a fair comparison of the Botanic with the Mineral practice. This he has always desired, and has repeatedly, in his former communications to the public, challenged the regular physicians to a comparison of the merits of their respective systems. He who caudally engages in the investigation of the system, will find its theory of disease simple, yet supported by sound reasoning—its practice based upon, and in accordance with that theory, simple yet effectual, and the success that has attended it, wonderful beyond any thing which has preceded it in the history of medicine.

The Female Department of the Infirmary is constantly under the superintendance of a female, who is competent to perform all the duties assigned to that department.

P. S. He wishes to call the attention of the economical, to the fuel and labor-saving properties of the Rotary Stove, and its peculiar adaptation as a Summer Cooking Stove. By the use of the grate, a very small amount of fuel is required for the culinary operations of any family; less by one half, it is believed, than is required by any other Stove in use. Its form and height is such that it admits of being placed in the fire place of ordinary kitchens, so that most of the heat and effluvia from it passes off by the chimney. The saving of fuel effected by the Improved Rotary, in one year, over that of almost any other Cooking Stove, is fully equal to its cost, besides the superior facility and care with which the several culinary operations are performed with it.
