COUNTY COURT.

Civil Jury Work Completed. The case of Livermore v. Bailey v. Town of Ryegate, which was on trial from June 17 to 28, was finished last week Wednesday evening when the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff to recover $1600 damages and his costs.

The suit was brought for recovery of damages which the plaintiff claimed should be given him for injuries received for alleged negligence of the town of Ryegate in the construction of the approach to a bridge on which the plaintiff was injured in November, 1904. This case will probably be taken to the supreme court. This completed the civil jury cases.

Considerable criminal business was done in court last week before the adjournment of the Fourth. The following were arraigned and pleaded not guilty: Sam Bigstein, liquor; Mrs. Cosmo Bardelli, liquor; Jim Carera, liquor; William Pope, larceny; and Mrs. Gabriel Constantino, liquor.

Homer Tiltonson of Hardwick pleaded guilty to one offense of furnishing intoxicating liquor and was fined $300 and costs, which he paid. The case of State v. Ezra C. Brooks for lottery was to be tried last week, but Thursday he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 and costs of prosecution, which he paid.

In the case of State v. Edward Gilligan for intoxication, he pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs of prosecution with additional sentence of 30 days in the House of Correction at Rutland. The sentence was stayed, the respondent having signed the pledge in open court and he was placed in the care of a probation officer.

Earl Warren, who stole $15 in money, in Hardwick, pleaded guilty to grand larceny and was sentenced to the Industrial School at Vergennes the remainder of his minority, but the sentence was stayed and the boy placed in charge of the probation officer.

Bail of $800 each was fixed in the following cases: Lena Julian, liquor; Dominic Costa, liquor; Mrs. Antonio Julian, liquor; and Samuel L. Plant, grand larceny. The jury was excused Thursday morning until this afternoon, and court adjourned Thursday afternoon until the same time. The criminal cases will commence today and the order is as follows: State v. Samuel Bigstein; State v. Mela Cardella; State v. Mrs. Giscommo Bardelli; State v. Frank Piantetti; State v. Mrs. Gabriel Constantino; State v. Giscommo Bardelli; State v. Jim Carera.

HIGH WATER.

A Cloud Burst at Wolcott—Great Damage to the Highways and to the Lake Road Track. St. Johnsbury had a fortunate escape from the effects of high water Sunday, the only damage being a slight washout on the road to the Hatchery and some damage to small culverts.

The north part of the county had a heavy storm, but the severest was in the Lamoille valley in the towns of Hardwick, Wolcott and Elmore. In the two latter towns bridges and highways were swept out of existence and it will cost each town at least $10,000 to repair their loss. With Elmore's small population it will be necessary for them to get aid from the new Legislature. From 5 o'clock Saturday night until 7 o'clock Sunday morning 4.5 inches of rain fell in the Lamoille valley and the Lamoille river became a raging torrent sweeping away bridges, and washing out the Lake road track between Hardwick and Hyde Park and delaying traffic for 48 hours.

The passengers on the mail train going west Saturday had an experience they do not care to repeat. The train left St. Johnsbury all right, but before Walden was reached Engineer Reed said it grew as dark as night and it seemed at 6 o'clock as if he was running his train through a tunnel. The 50 passengers knew there was trouble ahead and they soon struck the high water and had the rather unpleasant experience of riding on a track covered with water. After leaving Hardwick the storm was at its height and culverts were filled and the river a mountain torrent. The last culvert the train crossed the tracks of the rear car sank so perceptibly that the passengers were alarmed and the train was stopped. The culvert was soon washed out and as there was a big washout ahead the train was stalled over Sunday between Hardwick and Wolcott.

Some of the passengers held their breath and reached various destinations in the most of them stayed in the train and Sunday morning the good people of Wolcott brought them provisions which were gladly received. Sunday afternoon a work train succeeded in reaching them and brought the passengers to Hardwick and Monday morning they came to St. Johnsbury. The railroad had a large force of men at work Sunday and Monday, employing everybody in the immediate vicinity to help the section men and their gangs, and by Monday night the track was blocked up and they handled the Fourth of July traffic with only slight delays. The mail train from Swanton did not fare so hard as they knew of the condition of the track and turned around at Cambridge Junction and went back to Swanton Saturday night.

Old residents here say that they never saw the Passumpsic river so high in midsummer as it was Sunday morning after the heavy showers, but no damage was done except to flood some meadows. New Pastor Welcomed. Rev. A. H. Gage, who was just graduated from Colgate University at Hamilton, N. Y., preached his first sermon at the First Baptist church Sunday since he had been called as his pastor and was cordially greeted by his parishioners. The young ladies had banked the pulpit very effectively with ferns and wild flowers and Mr. Gage referred in a happy manner to the floral welcome. He took for his text for his morning discourse Isaiah 41: 6, "They helped everyone his neighbor; and everyone said to his brother, Be of good courage." He spoke on helpfulness and good cheer and said that he wanted these to be the motto of the work. He preached in the evening upon salvation, taking his text from Christ's interview with Zaccheus.

Mr. Gage will reside at the home of Rev. C. R. B. Dodge on Mount Pleasant street and he is a young man who will be well received by our townspeople. East St. Johnsbury. Mrs. S. J. Somerville and Mrs. Malcolm McLeod of St. Johnsbury were the guests of Mrs. B. F. Drew last week. Clarence Richards has moved into Charles Owen's house and will work for J. A. Ramage.

Misses Abbie and Annie Smith of Morris-town, N. J., and Miss Carrie Griswold of Montpelier, are spending their vacation at their homes in this village. Mrs. Joel Wood was in town calling on old friends last week. Mrs. Wood has moved her household goods to Richford, where she will make her future home. Mrs. Belle Grout has finished her school in Miles Pond and has returned home. Miss Georgianna Farnham of Troy is the guest of her cousin, Miss Dennis Russell.

Mrs. B. F. Drew gave a lawn party Saturday afternoon to her former associates in the CALEDONIAN office. Despite the rain an elaborate repast was served in a tent on the lawn and a most delightful time was spent.

RECENT DEATHS.

Stafford. Sarah A. Noyes, widow of Frank Stafford, died at her home on Clinton avenue Friday noon, her death coming suddenly and without pain.

Mrs. Stafford was born in Barre Nov. 30, 1832, being 72 years and 7 months old at the time of her death. Her early life was spent in Barre and in October, 1851, she was married to Frank Stafford, who died in St. Johnsbury, April 22, 1901. They soon went to Cummington, Mass., to live and after a few years returned to Barre, Mr. Stafford engaging in the manufacture of agricultural implements and representing Barre in the legislature of 1867. They removed to Chicago in 1869, where Mr. Stafford established a branch house which was destroyed in the great fire of October, 1871. The family returned to Barre the summer following where they remained until May, 1879, when they removed to St. Johnsbury. Four children were born to them, two boys dying at the age of five and nine respectively. She left two children, Mrs. Mary S. Wilder, with whom she had made her home, and Judge Wendell P. Stafford of the supreme court of the city of Washington. Brief services were held at her late residence Sunday afternoon conducted by her pastor Rev. Dr. S. G. Barnes, the prayer and a selection from one of Ian MacLaren's stories being given by Rev. Dr. Edward T. Fairbanks. The interment was at Barre on Monday by the side of her late husband.

Mrs. Stafford was a modest but earnest christian and a devoted member of the South church. She was a remarkably good neighbor, kindly in her interest in other's behalf. The profession of floral tributes at the funeral service was an expression of the affection for her and the high esteem in which she was held.

Beane.

William G. Beane of Winchester, Mass., died at Brunswick, Me., Thursday, and his death is greatly mourned by a wide circle of friends. Mr. Beane was born in Galesburg, Ill., was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1883 and began railroading soon after as chief clerk to the late Col. A. B. Jewett, superintendent of the P. & O. railroad. He remained here several years, and when it was leased to the Boston & Lowell he was transferred as chief clerk to Supt. Stowell. When the lease was broken he became assistant superintendent of the Concord & Montreal railroad, having jurisdiction over that part of the road south of Concord. Later he was promoted to be division superintendent. In 1895 he was appointed assistant superintendent of the southern division, Boston & Maine railroad, and a few months later was made division superintendent. This position he filled until compelled by the condition of his health to retire last month.

He rose from a comparatively low position to one of the highest in the great Boston & Maine system and in filling his last position he broke down under the strain. He leaves a widow, who was a Swanton lady, and one son, Mr. Beane is very pleasantly remembered in St. Johnsbury and always had a cordial greeting for his old associates and friends whenever he chanced to meet them.

THE CALEDONIAN CO.

Elbert Hubbard Says manual training should be taught in public schools. It is true that many of our best citizens come from the ranks of the workers. Many of our modern factories are practically manual training schools where the "gospel of work" is exclusively and agreeably taught to apt pupils. In this pleasant kind of factory young people learn to "do things" and earn their own living. The visitor to the factory of Smith & Son, at White River Junction, can not fail to be impressed with the atmosphere of good cheer, coupled with attention to business, which prevails. There are no floor-walkers, no inquisitive "supers." They are not needed. The young people find pleasure in their work.
