In Conservation and Thrift Work During Coming Club Year.

Eleven women's clubs in Vermont have thus far notified Mrs. George H. Smilie, state director for Vermont, on behalf of the savings division, first federal reserve district, agreeing to adopt a definite constructive program for conservation and thrift work during the coming club year. The Green Mountain state thus is getting into line on this work ahead of all the other New England states, although the others are planning to do so.

The savings division, of which Mrs. F. L. Higginson is director, is co-operating to the fullest extent in laying plans for this important work, and aiding the clubs in carrying out their programs in keeping with its pledge made at the Burlington meeting on May 13. At that time Mrs. Charles S. Heard and Miss S. Agnes Donham, associate directors, and Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, New England chairman of women's organizations, outlined the plan for conservation work before those present.

The Vermont organizations which thus far have pledged themselves to take up this program with the names of the officers making the pledge to Mrs. Smilie, are as follows:

Woman's club, Burlington—Mrs. Waters, president.

Rutland Women's club—Mrs. Frank Parmelee, Enosburg Falls.

Albany club—Mrs. Frank Locke, president, Springfield.

Northfield Ladies' Reading circle—Mrs. Fred Spencer, thrift chairman.

Athens club, Burlington—Mrs. Shanley, thrift chairman.

Montpelier Woman's club—Mrs. Fred Blanchard.

Fortnightly club—Mrs. Blanche Kent of Hardwick, thrift chairman.

Northfield—Mrs. Fred Spencer. The program as outlined by the savings division for the use of the clubs is divided into four parts as follows:

Part 1. Conservation of Life—The Mother and Baby. The Child and Adolescent. The Adult.

(This section may best be developed by child welfare and public health committees in co-operation with speakers and leaders of state board of health, Red Cross, Anti-Tuberculosis society, Mother Craft, District Nursing association.)

Part 2. Conservation of Public Interests—The Community. The State. The Nation.

(Developed by civic and conservation committees in co-operation with industrial and social conditions committees, legislative committees, state forestry associations, bureau of immigration and Americanization civic associations.)

Part 3. Conservation of Possessions—Time and Energy. Material Possessions. Money Saving.

(Developed by home economics committees in co-operation with savings division of the treasury department, home economics teachers and speakers, home demonstration agents, state university extension course.)

Part 4. Conservation of Investments—Government Securities. Bonds. Banking Institutions. Co-operative Associations.

(Developed by thrift committees or chairman in co-operation with the savings division of the treasury department, teachers of economics, bankers.)

WILL PREVENT CABLE LANDING

Four U. S. Destroyers and One Scout Patrol Waiting at Miami

FOR THE ARRIVAL OF THE COLONIA

British Government Also Takes Steps to Halt the Connection

Miami, Fla., Aug. 5.—Four destroyers and one scout patrol boat under orders from Washington, waited outside Miami harbor to-day for the British cable layer Colonia, en route here to land the Miami end of the Western Union Telegraph Co.'s cable from Barbados.

The destroyers, commanded by Rear Admiral Dicker, commandant of the seventh naval district, have been ordered to prevent the landing of the cable. Aboard the destroyer Cole is British Vice Consul Hubbard, who has been instructed by the British embassy at Washington to direct the Colonia's captain to disregard orders of the Western Union company to begin at once the work of landing the cable. Vice Consul Hubbard also has sent a dispatch boat to intercept the Colonia.

FORCE IF NECESSARY.

In Order to Prevent Landing of Cable at Miami.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Government officials to-day awaited the result of orders issued by President Wilson to prevent the landing by the Western Union Telegraph Co. at Miami, Fla., of its newly laid cable from Barbados.

Two methods are being relied upon by the government to prevent landing of the cable prior to the international communications congress, which convenes here Sept. 15. Orders have been issued by the navy department at the president's direction to destroyers now off the port of Miami to prevent the landing by force if necessary. The state department has requested the British embassy to inform the captain of the ship chartered by the Western Union company, the British steamer Colonia, that such a landing would be violation of American law.

TO CELEBRATE THE LANDING OF PILGRIMS

President Wilson Issues Proclamation Requesting December 21 Be Celebrated in Memory of the Pilgrims.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—President Wilson in a proclamation yesterday "suggested and requested" that December 21 be celebrated throughout the United States as the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth in 1620 and the appointment of Samuel W. McCall and Richard Hooker of Massachusetts and George Foster Peabody of New York, members of the Pilgrim tercentenary commission.

In the proclamation, the president recommended that the day be fittingly observed "to the end that salutary and patriotic lessons may be drawn from the fortitude, perseverance and the ideals of Pilgrims."

RUTLAND WOMAN INSANE.

Mrs. Eva Blaise Rock to Be Sent Back to Retreat.

Rutland, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Eva Blaise Rock of Evergreen avenue was committed to the retreat at Brattleboro yesterday afternoon following an examination as to her sanity.

Mrs. Rock was sent to Brattleboro from this city about a year ago. At that time she was creating a rumpus on a trolley car and was removed by Police Officer Martin Kennedy, who took her to police headquarters. She was sent back as absolutely sane.

Tuesday she began acting queer again. She obligingly smiled to many passersby and was taken in charge by Officer Kennedy.

She was confined in a detention cell over night and will be taken back to Brattleboro as soon as possible.

CARE OF THE BABY

A Series of Articles Prepared Especially for the Barre Daily Times

By the U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

(Questions relating to baby care and to problems of maternal and child health will be answered by experts of the U. S. public health service. Address: Baby Health Editor, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. Please mention this newspaper.)

16.—Feeding After the First Year.

The change from the bottle or breast to table food must be made intelligently if the baby is to continue to grow properly.

No child three years of age or under should ever be fed at the family table, or permitted to have tastes of food other than that which is especially intended for him.

To try to feed a young baby at the family table while attempting to partake of a meal is not conducive to a mother's or father's digestion. It is also unfair to a young child to expect him to sit quietly through the time his elders take for their meal and not want the food he sees them eating.

A simple, safe and satisfactory method of feeding a young child and a practical substitute for the always dangerous high chair is the separate small table and chair. Where the horse-room space is limited, this small table may be fastened on hinges to the wall so it may be dropped out of the way when not in use.

While the mother is preparing the family meal, the baby may be served just what he ought to have at his own table. In this way, he does not see other foods and will not ask for them. When baby has finished his own meal, he will be content to play or sleep while the family enjoy theirs unhampered by his presence.

The small table is an excellent means of training in table manners. When the child has learned proper control of himself at the age of four or five years, the family will then enjoy his presence at their table.

Cut these feeding suggestions and tack them over the kitchen table for reference. If you would have a healthy baby do not depart from them except under the doctor's advice.

China's Financial Situation.

The Chinese ministry of finance recently prepared a detailed report of the financial situation of the government. It says that from the fourth of the seventh years of the republic the arrears, owing to the various government departments, were $30,000,000 and in the seventh and the eighth year the debt owed by the military departments alone was "ordinary," $17,000,000, and "extraordinary," $30,000,000, to the administrative department, $15,000,000; and to the bank of China at the bank of communications $50,000,000, exclusive of the foreign and domestic loans concluded from time to time, amounting to more than $130,000,000. Thus the total amount of debts is $270,000,000. The monthly receipts of the central government are only $6,000,000, while the expenditure exceeds $16,000,000.—East and West News.
