Watchman & Journal.
 PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
 The Watchman Publishing Company
 At Montpelier, Vt.

Montpelier Daily Journal
 —AND—
Vermont Watchman.

Tuesday evening, October 6, the first number of the DAILY JOURNAL for the season of 1896 will be issued.
 This issue will contain the Biographical Sketches of the chief officers of the new State Government and of the members of the new Legislature, with much other interesting matter pertaining to the meeting of the General Assembly.
 The DAILY JOURNAL contains the official report of Legislative Proceedings. It contains, also, full reports of hearings before committees, and all other matters of interest about the Legislature. It is published at the close of each day's session, and, consequently, the earliest, as it has always the fullest and most accurate reports of everything connected with the General Assembly.
 The DAILY JOURNAL is, therefore, the first choice of Members of the Legislature, and is indispensable to all Vermont people who desire to have THE NEWS from the Capital.
 The JOURNAL will also be a complete general newspaper, giving the local, state, national and foreign news, and devoting particular attention to the events and progress of the National Campaign.

TERMS:
 Single copy $1.50
 Clubs of five copies each 1.00
 Clubs of ten copies or more, each80
 All subscriptions at the above rates are taken for a session of this annual length.
THE WATCHMAN.
 THE VERMONT WATCHMAN (weekly) for the session, twenty-five cents. THE WATCHMAN will contain the reports of legislative doings, condensed from the DAILY JOURNAL.
 Special rates to members ordering quantities of the WATCHMAN for the session, or of any single issue.
 WATCHMAN PUBLISHING COMPANY,
 Montpelier, Vt.

The Vermont Watchman.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:
 One year $2.00
 Cash in advance 1.50
 "In advance" must be taken to mean precisely what the words signify. Subscribers who renew one month, two months, etc., after the date to which they have paid expires, will be charged at the $2.00 rate for the time they are in arrears.
 A subscriber who renews one month after expiration of his paid subscription will pay for the year, $1.50; two months, $1.00; three months, $1.50; four months, $1.65; and so on. To this rule the publishers must adhere inflexibly.
 The difference is small and unimportant to the individual subscriber, but to the publishers it is important, and very large in the aggregate.
 The red label on every paper shows date of expiration of subscription, which is the first day of the month.
 If a subscriber desires to discontinue when paid subscription has expired, timely notice should be given. Without such notice, discontinuation will be considered.
 The great majority of subscribers object to having their subscription interrupted arbitrarily when the period for which they have paid has expired. The foregoing plan has been adopted as a fair compromise between the advance payment and the credit system.

Haines, New England representative of the Alabama Fruit Growing and Winery Association, will accompany the party. For further information call upon him or address him at the Hotel Block, 38 State street, Montpelier, Vt.

STRAV vs. WATER.—In this case the jury find that the defendant wins. They find further that for "economy, durability, convenience and price" the defendant's water pump is superior to any other water pump. The water power is very much to be desired, but the water power is very much to be desired, but the water power is very much to be desired. They find further that "a great many motors are simply water heaters" that, instead of utilizing eighty to ninety per cent of the flowing current, they give only from forty to sixty per cent. To those who are deficient in power in any case, the subscriber offers a special inducement. Among water motors in way of suggestions to remedy the shortage. Correspondence solicited. Address C. F. Ramsay, Wallingford, Vt.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers, Mr. W. T. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the highest esteem which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me this year, and before her departure, she wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she would bring a quantity with her, as she did not like to be without them." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequaled by any other. They are for sale here by C. Blakely, druggist.

Washington County Court.
 STATE vs. DENNIS DONAHUE.—Respondent lives in Berlin. Selling intoxicating liquor. Bail, $100. Ann Kelley became surety.
 JOHN MCKENZIE, APT., v. ROBERT COURTNEY.—General assumpsit. Defendant lodge is in East Barre. This case is said to have been for a benefit claim of about $100, and that plaintiff withdrew his claim. Announcement was made Tuesday forenoon by defendant's attorney, J. W. Gordon, that the case had been settled and discontinued. R. A. Hoar for plaintiff.
 THOMAS HOLDEN v. FOREYTH & INDEPENDENT GENERAL ASSURANCE CO.—Plaintiff in Barre, plaintiffs being manufacturers of granite tools, and defendants manufacturers of granite. Plaintiffs, by their specifications, claimed to recover $3,125. Thereafter, on motion of defendant, a demurrer was filed. Defendants built an additional derrick, and claimed that, as the power for running it was obtained through the old derrick, they were not bound to pay for the extra power. They also put in a few small matters in offset. The jury returned a verdict for plaintiffs for $4,885, with interest, and costs. J. W. Gordon for plaintiffs; E. W. Bisbee and W. A. Lord for defendants.
 IRA H. FISKE v. ESTATE OF WILLIAM C. LEWIS, J. W. BROCK, ADMINISTRATOR, APT.—Plaintiff claims to recover on a note which reads as follows: "$500. Montpelier, Vt., May 14th, 1894. For value rec'd I promise to pay Dr. Ira H. Fiske, or order, the sum of Five Hundred Dollars with annual interest this note being given for money loaned me by Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Fiske. W. C. Lewis." May 15, 1895. Rec'd on within note ($20 twenty dollars). The body of note and indorsements are different from signature. The main question in the case was as to the signature of Lewis to note. Plaintiff made out a strong case on this point by the introduction of the opinion of the business acquaintances of the defendant. Defendant produced as a witness Mary Bow, who has long resided in the Lewis house, and who testified as to her disbeliever in the genuineness of the signature, and that, from her knowledge of the financial transactions of deceased, she had not known as to his having borrowed the money. H. W. Kemp and J. H. Senter for plaintiff; H. A. Huso for defendant.
