COUNTY OFFICERS.

The conference of the Montpelier delegates to the county convention which assembles on Wednesday evening in the grand jury room at the court house. All the delegates were present except A. W. Ferrin, who had not been informed that such a meeting was to be held. In the absence of Mayor Boutwell, Henry Holt, an alternate, took his place. G. W. Wing, the chairman of the delegation, presided at the meeting.
The candidacy of Fred E. Thomas of this city, by vote of the delegates, was endorsed for office of State's attorney, being the only candidate thus sustained by the delegation.
There is no contest, it was understood, over the senatorship. N. D. Phelps of Barre, A. D. Bragg of Fayston and R. F. Drennan of Woodstock, being the only candidates for the county's three Senators in the field. It was assumed that they accept the platform adopted by the State convention last week, and, in that case, the delegation will be a unit for their nomination. The office of judge of probate, in respect of its present incumbent is never a matter of conference. The delegation was non-committal as to its choice for sheriff and county commissioner.

The end was peaceful and after her long suffering death came as a welcome relief. She is survived by six children. The funeral will take place Wednesday at nine o'clock.
The new time table of the Central Vermont railroad, corrected to June 22, has but two changes from the old running time of trains so far as this city is concerned. The south bound midnight express, which formerly left this city at 12:40 a. m., now leaves at 12:30 a. m. An excellent White Mountain express, has been added. It formerly left this city at 12:15 p. m. and leaves for Burlington at 3:55 p. m. The first trip was made today.
The local order of St. Jean de Baptiste celebrated the anniversary of its patron saint, which occurred Tuesday, by about sixty of the members attending mass at eight o'clock this morning at St. Augustin church in this city. The new Mt. Pleasant for 500. This hotel is situated opposite and about a half mile distant from the old building. It will be opened July 28, Mr. Smith being cashier for both.
A conservative estimate of the number from out of town within the city's gates during the holding of the recent State convention is from 1,500 to 2,000. It has been impossible to obtain the number carried over the Central Vermont road or the electric line but on Friday over 300 were carried over the Montpelier and Wells line. At the Central station Baggage Master Hayden has had a bustling time for each and all of her charges. He checked out 225 pieces of baggage and forty-three Saturday morning.
Miss Sara A. Wheeler, a former efficient nurse of Benton hospital has accepted the position of night superintendent in a new hospital at Winsted, Conn. Since leaving Montpelier last October, Miss Wheeler has been doing private nursing at her home in North Ferrisburgh, Conn. Her friends, and especially those patients who had each day made brighter by her happy, cheerful presence, will wish her success. Always patient and conscientiously doing for each and all of her charges, she never seemed to tire of the profession she has chosen and for which she is in every way so well fitted.
Lieut. C. E. Wheatley, who is stationed at Fort Banks, Mass., arrived in town Monday for a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Wheatley. He will attend the commencement exercises at Norwich University from which he graduated with high honors a year ago. "Ned" has many friends in this city, and they are heartily glad to see him. The brown cheek and sprightly step indicate good health. He expresses himself as very much pleased with army life.
Hollister Jackson, one of the Barre Clement delegates to the Republican State Convention, was in the city Monday, and when gayer about bolting the convention declared that he did not consider himself a bolter. When Jones led the others from the convention hall he kept his seat, at first believing the movement a mistake, as he believed the non-recognition of Peck and Jones, Clement delegates, was rather the result of the incompetency of Chairman Raymond than any scheme of the other side to gag the Clement faction. When he did finally leave the hall, Mr. Jackson avowed it was with the purpose of inducing Jones and his followers to return, which he was unable to accomplish. Regarding the reconsideration of his election to the State committee, if Mr. Plumley desired to hold the office he could, but before the bolt he defeated Plumley before the County delegates by a vote of 32 to 30.

Saved from An Awful Fate.
"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shields of Chambersburg, Pa., "I was so low after six months of severe sickness caused by hay fever and asthma, that few thought I could get well, but I learned of the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, used it and was completely cured." For desperate Throat and Lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible for Coughs, Croup and Bronchitis Affections. Guaranteed bottles, 50c, and $1. Trial bottles free at C. Blakely's.
SECOND DISTRICT CONVENTION.
The Second Congressional district convention opened Wednesday in Armory hall.
Amory Davison of Craftsbury, chairman of the district committee, called the convention to order. Nearly all the chairs reserved for the delegates were filled and a large number of spectators in the galleries.
E. B. Flynn of Springfield was elected chairman and L. B. Johnson of Randolph and C. P. Sawyer of Hardwick secretaries.
The chairman made a brief speech, which was received with applause.
At the close of the chairman's remarks, no other business being presented, Col. H. E. Taylor of Brattleboro nominated Hon. Kittridge Haskins as representative from the second district. His remarks were received with great applause. The nomination was numerously seconded.
Col. Haskins was nominated by acclamation.
In the closing proceedings of the second district convention Mr. Gibson of Brattleboro offered a resolution endorsing Col. Haskins' work in Congress and pledging him support in the coming election. The district committee appointed was the following: Caledonia county, F. W. Mason, Barre; Essex, Robert Chase, Guildhall; Orange, J. F. Mead, Randolph; Orleans, Amory Davison, Craftsbury; Washington, J. H. Lucia, Montpelier; Windham, George Gorham, Rockingham; Windsor, F. A. Walker, Ludlow. The committee organized by making Amory Davison, chairman, and J. F. Mead, secretary.
THE AESTHETIC CLUB
On Tuesday evening, at the Seminary, Rev. Frank L. Goodspeed addressed the Aesthetic society. Mr. Goodspeed is a native of Vermont, born in Warren, a graduate of the Seminary and at present pastor of one of the leading churches at Springfield, Mass. His address was specially interesting to Seminary people.
Mr. Goodspeed pleasantly alluded to his early life in the State and to events in his student life and spoke earnestly of his desire that Vermont should never place upon her statutes a law legalizing the sale of intoxicating drinks. He said he had noted the Central Vermont railway for the past twenty years and it had all been made under prohibition laws. His subject for the evening was "A symmetrical life" and he made plain by anecdotes and forceful illustration what factors must enter into such a life. Strength is important but grace and beauty are useful for symmetry; and the ability to idealize furnishes a powerful element in the progress of the world, toward the highest life.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Children's Day was observed at the Unitarian church on Sunday.
The decorations consisted of large and beautiful bouquets of white peonies and roses.
The subject of the morning sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. Edward Wright, was "The Religious Nurture of Children," in which parents were urged not to relegate the religious training of their children to the Sunday-schools entirely--for the teachings of these schools could be only supplementary or fragmentary, as it was daily living and teaching that was the most important element in religious growth.
The music furnished by the church choir was of the usual high order and adapted to the occasion. At the close of this service five infants were brought forward by their parents for the solemn and beautiful dedicatory service. Each child was given a flower--"from the oldest to the youngest." The children's exercises in the church vestry followed. It was "Bird's Day" for on the walls hung colored charts of birds and in each part was something pertaining to bird life. Daisies and ferns with bouquets of peonies and other flowers decorated the platform. There were several recitations, singing by the school, and Miss Grace Clark, who had prepared the program and had charge of the children, read a paper on the coming of the birds in which she told something of the habits of each class and the time of arrival. Five tiny tots from the infant class, in a recitation, "The Bird's Nest," told in sweet lisping voices what the birds sang. A reading by one of the young ladies of the school and singing by the school closed the program.
