"OTHER WOMAN" IS CLUE TO TRAGEDY

THINK BANKER KILLED WIFE

Find Skeleton in Banker Beattie's Closet in Mysterious Woman — He May Be Arrested.

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 21.—"Two women and a man"—the old, old story—today was given here as the solution of the mysterious murder of Mrs. Louis Beattie, jr., who was killed by a shotgun as she rode with her husband in an automobile. The coroner's jury uncovered the skeleton in Beattie's closet and Detective Scherer predicts the arrest of the banker.

The detectives went back four years to find the woman in the case. They discovered that Beulah Binford, a brunette beauty and schooldays' sweetheart of Beattie, was the mother of Beattie's first born son, now dead.

Woman Is Questioned.

Last night a dozen sleuths sweated the Binford woman on Scherer's farm, nine miles north of here, where she had been spirited from Richmond.

The clue to the woman was given when witnesses to Beattie's wedding remembered a mysterious veiled woman who sat in a rear pew of the little Manchester church while the ceremony was performed.

Questioned last night the Binford woman is said by the police to have admitted that she was the mother of Beattie's dead son, born July 24, 1909, and that she had received money from Beattie to remain away from Richmond. She returned here three weeks ago and was seen in Beattie's automobile twice just prior to the tragedy.

Beattie will be confronted by the woman. Lacking evidence of murder, the police are endeavoring to trace the ownership of the shotgun with which Mrs. Beattie was killed.

The shotgun with which Mrs. Beattie was killed was introduced as evidence today at the inquest which was held on the veranda of the court house because of the heat.

The bloodstained automobile was run into the courthouse lawn and throngs swarmed around it, pawing at the bloody cushion, while scores of others climbed nearby trees to gain a better view.

Beattie repeated his previous story on the stand. He said an attempt had been made to incriminate him, "because the police couldn't find anyone else."

Public Ought to Let Trusts Alone--Parsons

CORPORATION LAWYER BELIEVES THAT THE TRUSTS SHOULD BE ALLOWED TO DO WHAT THEY PLEASE.

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 21.—Grim declaration that the "dear public" is the only sufferer as the result of government attempts to prevent trusts was made today to the Hardwick house committee which is investigating the sugar industry by John E. Parsons, the New York lawyer who claims to have organized the industry on its present basis.

"The sooner the politicians realize that their efforts to prevent combinations of capital from increasing the prices of all commodities," said Parsons, "and that 'dear public' is the only sufferer by their attempts, the better it will be for the country."

Capitalization of corporations on the basis of actual physical valuation of their properties is a joke. The future must be capitalized, as must also opportunities. The government must keep its hands off."

Say Passengers Could Have Been Landed

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Seamen of the steamer Santa Rosa appeared today before Inspectors Bolles and Bulger, probing the wreck of the vessel off Point Arguello. The questions asked each man were practically the same. Whether the passengers could have been landed safely was the point the inspectors endeavored to determine.

Two of them thought the passengers could have been landed safely. One thought not.

Confesses To Murder

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

GRANT'S PASS, Ore., July 21.—Mike Morgan, in jail here charged with the murder of John E. York, who was killed last Thursday night, and his body thrown in the Rogue river, this morning made a complete confession, declaring that he killed York in self defense.

York and Morgan were camped together near this city and, in his confession this morning Morgan alleges that upon the night of the killing he went to the camp in a half drunken condition, that he and York had a row, that York started to assault him and that he struck York on the head with a club. Morgan say sthat he then carried the body in his arms half way to the river and then put a rope around the dead man's neck.

Stays In Air For 11 Hours

(United Press Leased Wire.)

CHALONS SUR MARNE, France, July 21.—Establishing a new aeroplane endurance record, M. Loridan remained aloft here today for 11 hours and 45 minutes, covering 480 miles before he alighted. The previous endurance record was nine hours and 15 minutes.

Plan More Auto Roads

The city and county commissioners this afternoon went to Kapowsin to look over the county's supply of crushed rock.

Mayor Seymour wants a fine auto road to South Tacoma, and thinks the city should pay for it. There has been much complaint against this, but if crushed rock can be secured and the work done by the city force with city teams possibly the road will go through.

The mayor also wants a good road to Point Defiance park so the auto can get there, and he thinks this should be built by the little home owners. If the city can get crushed rock from the county much of this sort of thing can be undertaken.

SAN FRANCISCO.—W. T. Alexander, 90, waterfront character, was found dead today on a pile of lumber. It is believed he fell from the second story of an old building while walking in his sleep.

From 88 to 66 is quite a drop, but that's just what has taken place in Tacoma's temperature since Wednesday. Yesterday's maximum was 66 degrees. Wednesday's was 88.

Weather Forecast

Fair tonight and Saturday. Light westerly winds.

"Don't Grow Old," Is Mary's Recipe For Staying Young

HOW TO STAY YOUNG

Don't grow old.
Don't think you are growing old.
Don't worry over growing old, or anything else.
Do something every day.
Do plenty of walking.
Do some dancing, if you know how.
Do some good reading every day.
Do a lot of thinking, about pleasing things.
Keep your mind on the good things of life, and forget the rest
Make yourself as attractive as you can—by natural means.
Have good thoughts, believe evil of none.

MARY MARBLE

Mary Marble is one of the most youthful women on the stage. Although she is a loving wife, and has been married some time, she is still a mere child when she gets out before an audience.

How does she do it?

Here's are simple, old-fashioned rules. They call for no beauty culturist's work; no pharmacy aids; no drug store at home; any elaborate systems or cults.

"I've always been young, and I suppose I always will be," says the little roly-poly comedienne, as she chuckled over a query as to "how she managed it." "There is no secret about it; there is no royal road to youth, and no Ponce de Leon fountain in our family. It is simply that I have determined never to grow up into an old woman, and have taken the natural way to remain young.

"In other words, I am young because I've stayed that way. I'm like a child when it comes to sleep or rest. When I am tired, I sleep; that's all there is to it. I take plenty of it; have my cold tub mornings; eat simply and enjoy life—every minute of it.

"I don't take the world seriously.

"And I stick to 'kid' parts in my stage work, too. I believe in 'kid' plays.

"Watch any audience and see how hungry it is for relaxation, which it cannot find in the serious drama. If we only had more of that getting out of ourselves, it would be mighty good for us.

CHICAGO.—An affidavit by a private detective in a divorce suit was spurned by Judge Gibbons of the circuit court. "I wouldn't believe any man who would swear to such statements," he said.

Girl of 19 Drops Out of Sight Suddenly

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 21.—With the police vainly searching for Louise Swain, 19, missing since Monday, fears are entertained that the case will parallel the famous Dorothy Arnold disappearance.

Since the girl told her mother Monday she was going out for a short walk, nothing has been seen of her. William Swain, her father, through the newspapers appealed to her to return, fearing her continued absence will mean the death of her mother. He received a letter telling him to call at an address in Manhattan for word from the girl, but the detectives who went there learned nothing.

Reciprocity Expected To Pass Tomorrow

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—The Canadian reciprocity bill will be voted on in the senate tomorrow and probably will be passed. Votes on the wool revision bill and farmers' free list will be taken July 27 and August 1, following which will come the house apportionment and statehood bills, on August 3 and 7 respectively. Adjournment is expected to be made shortly afterwards.

It is believed the reciprocity measure will be passed by the senate in the same form as it came from the house.

Senators Penrose and McCumber, the latter the most bitter opponent of the bill, predicted today that the bill would pass by 2 to 1. Senator Stone said the vote would be in the proportion of 55 to 34. Senator Bristow declared that 45 per cent of the republicans would suport the measure.

A Story of the Town

This young married couple—the Doveydoves, we will call them—are having a cute little home built near Parkland. It is a very cozy and Ladies' Home Journal-y and calculated to make housekeeping a rose-tinted dream. The Doveydoves go out to inspect it every few days and suggest changes the builders never dreamed of. All of which sounds very youthful and impractical.

But wait. Hesitate a few moments.

The building was about half done and the builder and the contractor and the brick mason and the plasterer and a half-dozen others and Mr. Doveydove himself, who was paying for the job, had overlooked one big bet.

There hadn't been any flue opening put into the chimney for the kitchen stove!

And Mrs. Doveydove was the one who noticed that and called attention to it just in time to have it put in.

Which shows that a few young brides are bright about some things other than millinery and sofa pillows.

SUSPECT ON SCENE OF CRIME

Olympia Sheriff Arrests Rainier Section Man as New Murder Suspect—Man Has Acted Strangely and Refused to Live at Home Since Crime.

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

OLYMPIA, July 21.—With his newest suspect, J. H. Wilson, Rainier section foreman, in charge, Sheriff Gaston is on his way today to the scene of the Cobel murder.

Gaston will say little about the case against Wilson connecting him with the brutal murder of Archie Cobel and his wife on the night of July 10.

Wilson first gave out the news of the disappearance of Swan Peterson, the suspect still held at Olympia, on the morning after the murder. Peterson quit without drawing his pay, Wilson said.

Later it was discovered that Peterson's pay just covered his hotel bill at the Waddell house.

The section foreman will be confronted with the bloody room where the tragedy occurred, and the axe which brought the death of the young couple.

Gaston says that Wilson has been acting strangely since the crime. He has not been at home since, living at the Waddell hotel.

Wilson is married and has five children. He lived but a short distance from the Cobel house. He was arrested by the sheriff late last night. The Wilson home has been sealed up and the family is being watched.

SUSPECTS IN COBEL CASE.

JOHN MULQUEEN, Rainier, thought insane, released.

ARTHUR PIERCE, Rainier, simple minded, released.

SWAN PETERSON, section man and hobo, held at Olympia but case against him growing weaker.

J. W. WILSON, Rainier, section foreman.

No Clue At Kanaskat

Sheriff Longmire's trip to Kanaskat yesterday on a clue given him by the residents of that place in connection with the Cobel murder at Rainier was fruitless. "There was no clue at all except that the poeple had seen a man who had acted suspiciously, but of course I had to go as we are anxious to grab the man that committed the crime."

$7500 Reward For Bandits

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 21.—A reward of $7,500 was offered here today by the Northern Pacific road for the capture and conviction of the three masked bandits who held up and robbed passengers on the North Coast Limited train near Tower City, N. D.

Three suspects so far have been captured at Castleton, N. D.; three more at Melrose, Minn., and three Jellen brothers are held by the authorities at Tolna, N. D.

Simmons Up On July 24

A. T. Simmons, accused of brutally assaulting a young girl on the streets after enticing her by a false letter will appear before Judge Arntson on July 24.

Simmons is believed to be a white slaver, marks and tattooed pictures upon his person stamping him as a degenerate. Simmons will probably be prosecuted to the full extent of the law as there is too much of this crime being attempted in the city, according to the police.

TRY TO HOLD WOMAN UP

Jumping out at her from an alley between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets two masked men set upon Mrs. Chas. W. Hoffman as she was returning from the grocery. At the sight of the revolvers she and her small daughters fled. The men, seeming alarmed, ran in the direction of Bismarck and no trace could be found by the police.

HINES BOASTED HE ELECTED LORIMER

—C. F. WEIHE.

DAMAGING FACT ADMITTED BY BUSINESS ASSOCIATE OF LUMBERMAN.

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—Dodging the issue, C. F. Weihe, business associate of Edward W. Hines, the alleged active collector of the reported $100,000 Lorimer "slush fund," today virtually admitted that Hines had boasted of having elected Lorimer.

When Weihe appeared as a Lorimer witness Senator Kern read to him the testimony of H. H. Hetler, who swore that Hines had directly claimed full responsibility for Lorimer's election. Weihe said:

"He did not say that to Hetler, but I did hear him say that he thought he had done much toward Lorimer's election."

A HOLY TERROR

This is the most dreadful looking thing of human fabrication on earth—namely a first-class battleship running full speed under forced draught, seen bow on, coming down on you twenty knots an hour. DEATH REVEALS WOMENS SECRET

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO WAS ST. LOUIS SOCIAL QUEEN 20 YEARS AGO—HAD LEFT HUSBAND TO WORK AS SERVANT.

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, July 21. — Killed when she stepped in front of a speeding auto "Mrs. Catherine Porter," 52, a domestic in the home of W. F. Hobbs, was identified today as Mrs. Catherine Edgar, the divorced wife of Welwyn C. Edgar, a multimillionaire steel manufacturer of St. Louis.

A heavy veil worn by the woman on the streets to prevent her friends of other days from recognizing her, was the cause of her death. It obscured her view and she did not see the flying automobile until it was upon her.

Was Society Queen.

Twenty years ago Mrs. Edgar was a leader of St. Louis society. Her husband was rich and they had a two-year-old son. Then came domestic trouble and divorce. Too proud to seek aid from her relatives the former society queen sought menial work to support herself. Finally she came to Chicago, where she married a man named Porter, but whether he is living or dead is not known.

As "Mrs. Porter" the dead woman worked in the Hobbs home for five years. She had no friends and sought solitude. Once she told her employers that her son, Sullivan Edgar, was a wealthy manufacturer in St. Louis.

Americans May Be Massacred

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—Reports from Port Au Prince, Hayti, that a desperate situation confronts Americans and other foreign residents there, and that American guns may be needed to save them from murder and pillage, were confirmed here today by the state department.

Secretary Knox depends on the United States warships to save the lives of Americans, if, as it is reported, he must do, President Simon surrenders the capital to the victorious insurgents who are hotly pressing to attack it from the north.

Maderists Join Rebels

MONTEREY, Mexico, July 21.—Hundreds of former Maderists today are joining the forces of the Magonists or Mexican liberals who profess to adherence to socialism, throughout Coahuila, Durango and San Luis Potosi provinces, according to messages received here today which declare a state of anarchy prevails.

Advices from many of the Mexican states declare that, as a result of the presidential campaign in progress the situation is critical and that open revolt may break out at any moment.

SOME JOBS DON'T SUIT US IN TORRID WEATHER

You can talk about those higher up,
Who have a sinecure;
But jobs of congressmen and kings
To me present no lure.
I'd like the honor and the cash,
And in great pomp to dine;
But summer sessions, velvet robes
And crowns—Whew! Not for mine!
