NOTES FOR FARMERS.

AGRICULTURAL INFORMATION ON MANY SUBJECTS.

A Substitute for Glass for Hot-Beds—Planting Young Trees—Cannibal Insects That Are Useful—Interesting Observations in Short Paragraphs.

Glass is expensive for hot beds, and those who prefer something cheaper may use cotton cloth, giving it two coats of boiled linseed oil. It requires but little attention, is easily handled, permits the heat and light to enter, and does not allow the heat to be radiated away at night as readily as does glass. It also has the advantage of reducing the cost of frames, as the expensive window sash need not be used.

When you order young trees one of the most important points to observe is not to allow the roots to be exposed to the sun or wind. A few minutes exposure may do irreparable injury. If you cannot plant them immediately on arrival "heel" them in until you are ready, and before beginning the work let the holes be dug and all preparations made to avoid delay.

Early cabbages may be made to grow very rapidly if given an application of liquid manure once or twice. The best heads are secured when phosphates are applied liberally. The hoe should be used often, as cultivation is important. Every day gained in getting the early cabbage in market adds to the price secured. They should be forced as rapidly as possible.

Among the most useful of all cannibal insects are the small and beautiful lady-birds, so well known to our readers to need description. Their favorite food consists of plant-lice (aphides) and potato-bug eggs. Two years ago they were so plentiful in our garden that they almost kept the potato patch cleared from potato-bugs. The gardener should try to protect these little friends of his.—Orchard and Garden.

Clover, or some kind of bulky food, benefits all classes of stock, not only because of the nutrition obtained but for the reason that it distends the stomach and intestines, keeping them natural, while an exclusive diet of concentrated food renders the system feverish by clogging the bowels and causing indigestion.

When setting out trees never put manure of any kind in the hole made to receive the roots of the tree. Lay the top soil aside, and when the tree is in position throw the top soil on the roots and pack closely, then filling in with the soil taken lower down. The only fertilizer necessary the first year is ashes.

Early in the season, before the potato is up, the beetle will attack the tomato plants in hot-beds, or that may be set out in the open ground. It will destroy a whole field of egg plants in a single night, and often does more damage to early plants than it does to the potato crop.

All the cutting out of old canes from the raspberries and blackberries should be done before the spring opens. If the new canes are cut back laterals will be thrown back. Blackberries should always be well cut back, in order to have the canes strong and stocky.

Any soil that will grow a fair crop of corn may be selected for peaches. The same cultivation is given peaches the first year that is necessary for corn, which means that the cultivator should be passed over the ground frequently and the grass kept down.

It is estimated that for fattening hogs one bushel of corn is equal to three bushels of oats, and that when fed dry shelled corn is more economical than corn meal for hogs, especially if the cost of grinding is taken into consideration.

Don't trust to your memory when planting an orchard with several varieties of fruit, but make a diagram and preserve it for future use. The trees may not bear for four years, when the location of each variety may than be forgotten.

The continued warm weather for this season may cause the buds to prematurely swell, only to be caught by the frost later on. The best preventative is the use of mulch, which prevents the ground from warming before spring.

When trimming grape vines let them be cut and trained so as to admit of the air and sunshine. Too much shade is sometimes the cause of rot, as it invites moisture. Trim the vines while the weather is cold.

Roots stored in the cellar will cause disease in the household if allowed to decay and rot. The cellar is an excellent storage for root crops, but they must be kept in good condition if disease is to be avoided.

Save the old fruit cans; throw them in the fire and melt them apart, and use them around the early tomato plants, in order to guard against the depredations of the cutworm.

Too much washing and scouring of the churns and tinpans cannot be given. Cleanliness is an important factor in the dairy business, and boiling water is an absolute necessity.

Use carbolic acid in all the whitewash that may be applied, and whitewash the interior of the stables as often as it can be done, as it renders them light and cheerful.

When farmers let sheep go because wool was low they forgot that sheep, independent of wool, are worth more than their cost in what they do for the farm and in the meat they furnish, says a writer.

The manure produced by the stock, if not secured and judiciously used, will greatly diminish the profit on the feed and care; therefore, let this be a point of great interest to those feeding animals through winter for profit.

Prof. Sanborn advises farmers to attempt to use chemicals (not including lime, plaster and salt) only after intelligent buying, a careful study of the soil by comparative tests, and then on horticultural crops mainly, including potatoes.

Cooked rutabagas with a little meal or bran will make admirable pork. Fed to shee with a trifling addition of feed and they will make the finest mutton in the world.

Look well to your supply of hay, grain and roots for the stock. The barns should certainly be in good condition. If kept in warm quarters less food will be required.

A successful grower of trees claims never to fail to dispose of the black knot finally, if it is cut off in an early stage and turpentine applied.

Miss Minerva—"Your visits to your old home are so few and far between now, Professor. I do hope you can spend some time in town." The Professor—"Ah, thank you. I have tried so to dispose my time that in my visits among my friends I can embrace all my former pupils in the seminary, particularly you, Miss Minerva."

So Near and Yet So Far.

He—I know I'm somewhat young to marry you, but I am sure I can make you happy. Father is a widower, and I'm sure he warmly admires. Tell me; do tell me that you will be my wife.

She—I am sorry George, dear, but I have already promised to be a stepmother to you. Your father called an hour ago.

"Will you have a piece of this nice mince pie, Tommy?" said Tommy's aunt, with whom he was taking his dinner. "Please, ma'am," replied the little fellow, holding his plate; "but you might put two pieces on now; mamma has taught me never to pass my plate for the second piece."

Not Responsible.

A Bright Mortuary Outlook.

Our manufacturers have complained of a somewhat slow business during the latter months of the past year, but everything looks brighter for the year 1089.—Shroud, Undertakers' Organ.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the residence of Mrs. Rider last evening.

The rats which have their abiding place on the river bank were frisking around in the snow yesterday.

The untimely death of Edith Sutten, a bright, promising little girl of eleven years, cast a gloom throughout the school yesterday. The particulars of the accident which ended in her death are as follows: She, in company with a younger sister and several other little girls, were on their way home from school, walking down the O. R. railroad track, and when near to the place where they should get off they saw, with dismay, an engine pulling a train of cars approaching rapidly. The girls would have had to perhaps have gotten off at the usual place, but in their excitement they jumped off the trestle where they were to the shore. All the girls escaped unhurt except Edith who complained of feeling sick. She went to her home which was but a short distance from the track. After trying to relieve her, a physician was sent for, who pronounced her injuries internal, and of a serious nature. She died at an early hour yesterday. The school will be closed in the afternoon for the funeral.

A small child of John Davidson died on Saturday of mumps and was buried yesterday.

A slight difficulty occurred at the Northwood glass works yesterday between the management and the gatherers. It was amicably adjusted and the factory went on again last night.

On Saturday night thieves attempted to rob Mrs. John Diggins, of Æraville. Mr. Diggins, who is working in Alabama, sent money home to his wife to come to him. Some one evidently knew of her receipt, for about ten o'clock Saturday night, three men called at Mrs. Diggins' home with the evident intention of robbing her. She heard them talking outside and heard one say: "If she makes a fuss knock her on the head." The trio entered through the cellar window and went on up stairs. Mrs. Diggins gave an alarm and several men came the rescue. Mrs. Diggins has no clue to the thieves.

BELLAIRE.

The steel works have closed down. The period of the stop may not be more than a week. The direct process of manufacturing steel has caused some dissatisfaction among the laborers in the metal yard, and they refuse to work. The company says the demand for steel is light just now.

Col. Taylor, who was here from Mansfield, trying to induce nailers to go to that city to run a steel wire mill, did not meet with any success. The workmen do not like the way the factory is built, and are of the opinion that it cannot be run successfully.

Miss Kate Rodefer, sister of Albert, Thornton and John Rodefer, glass manufacturers of this city, died yesterday at her home just south of this city of catarrhal consumption, aged 33 years. Funeral will take place on Wednesday.

The business way to do the vaccination business is for the school board to let out the job by contract. It would save a great many dollars for people who are not able to pay the doctor, yet are too proud to take charity.

The new Indian Run bridge has arrived and will be erected at once. The street railway has been delayed by the non-arrival of the structure, but now that it is here, the road will be completed with all possible speed.

The funeral of Mrs. Kate McGivern took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. Father Fitzgerald conducted the ceremony.

Six tramps were seen to leave a point in the Fourth ward yesterday morning and take different routes in quest of victuals.

Thomas O'Neil and R. Taylor, of this city, have gone to Pittsburg, and their fathers are anxious about them.

C. A. Kroger had two fingers cut off while at work at Rodefer Bros.' Glass Works yesterday.

The steel works was not in operation yesterday, and yet there was hardly any gas.

Freshly Trimmed.

Mrs. Hayseed (in hotel dining-room)—"What a bright light those lamps give!" Mr. Hayseed (whispering)—"Say gas jets, Marier; them ain't lamps." Mrs. Hayseed (loudly)—"Yes, as I was saying, what a bright light the gas jets give, guess they're fresh trimmed."—New York Weekly.

STATES—Dull and featureless.

RAILROADS—More active than on any day so far this year; the sales of all issues reaching $3,777,000. But the great feature of the dealings was the extraordinary demand for the leading issues, especially the 4s, which furnished $1,124,000 out of the total.

STOCKS—The stock market was again very dull to-day, except at the opening and the close, and prices were on the average on a higher plane than the final figures of Saturday. First prices were generally ⅛ to ¼ per cent. higher than Saturday, in sympathy with the higher market for Americans in London, but Atchison and Missouri Pacific started a downward movement in the general list. Atchison yielded 1½, and Missouri Pacific 1½, and while Lackawanna was attacked rather sharply, its loss was only fractional, and the impression upon the rest was entirely insignificant. The close was active and strong, and generally at the best prices of the day. Missouri Pacific is down ¾, and Pullman rose 3½. Atchison 1½, and Louisville and Nashville 1 per cent. South Bend Chilled Plow Company vs.

Sarah E. Boyd, A. Pryor Boyd, Mary E. Boyd Deborah Jane Boyd, and the unknown heirs at law of James Boyd, deceased, if any, and John Dodds.

IN CHANCERY.

A cause of the title above set forth is now pending in the Circuit Court of the county of Ohio, in the State of West Virginia, the general object of which is to subject the interest of the defendant, A. Pryor Boyd, in the one-third of lot No. 122, in Square 18 of the town of Wheeling, which one-third is described in a deed from the City of Wheeling to Robert Boyd, dated the 29th day of August, 1836, and of record in the Ohio County Court Clerk's office, which interest thereto of the said A. Pryor Boyd is more fully set forth in the bill filed in said cause, to sell, to pay the costs of said suit and the lien of the plaintiff thereon by reason of a judgment of the County Court of Ohio county in favor of the plaintiff, against the defendant, A. Pryor Boyd, for the sum of $1,459 45, with interest thereon from the 7th day of January, 1879, until paid, and $23.90, the cost of the said judgment and for general relief. And it appearing from an affidavit filed in this cause at these rules, that the defendants, Mary E. Boyd and John Dodds, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, and they not having been served with process in this cause, on motion of complainant by its attorneys, this order of publication is entered against them: and it is ordered that the said defendants, Mary E. Boyd and John Dodds, be required to appear within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interests. It is further ordered that this order be published and posted as required by law.

Witness, John W. Mitchell, Clerk of the said Court, at the Court House of said county, this 9th day of January, 1889.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA

"These twin diseases cause untold suffering. Doctors admit that they are difficult to cure—so do their patients. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of rheumatism and neuralgia—so say those who have used it.

"Having been troubled with rheumatism at the knee and foot for five years, I was almost unable to get around, and was very often confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I used only one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and was perfectly cured. I can now jump around, and feel as lively as a boy." FRANK CANOLL, Eureka, Nevada.

Effects Lasting Cures.

Paine's Celery Compound has performed many other cures as marvelous as these,—copies of letters sent to any address. Pleasant to take, does not disturb, but aids digestion, and entirely vegetable; a child can take it. What's the use of suffering longer with rheumatism or neuralgia?
