THE SLANDER SUIT.

THE EVIDENCE ADDUCED ON THE SECOND DAY

The Plaintiff Rests His Case, and the Defense Begins —Dr. Pipes Himself on the Stand— His Wife Called.

The hearing of testimony in the cause of J. H. Pipes v. J. H. McCoy, action to recover $5,000 damages for slander, was resumed before Judge Campbell yesterday morning. A late start was made, it being after ten o'clock when the first witness of the day, Hermann Bentz, was called. He was not present, and Miss Louisa Custer was called. She had a conversation with Dr. McCoy, at her house, about two years ago. One or two other ladies were present. The Doctor called with a petition. Mrs. Habberfield was present. Witness had asked the Doctor why he called, and he said he had a petition about Miss Greenlee. He said she was not a fit person to teach school; that one day Mrs. Pipes had gone for some meat and forgot her pocketbook, and on returning for it was the Doctor and Miss Greenlee in bed together. He said: "and not only that, but even now he is spending two or three hours a day with her."

WITNESS DIDN'T BELIEVE IT.

On cross-examination witness said she had told Dr. McCoy she thought he didn't know anything about the matter, when he said he would take Mrs. Pipes' word for it. He did not say directly that Mrs. Pipes had told him, nor did he say he knew the matter of his own knowledge. Witness told her mother not to sign the papers. Dr. Pipes' had never been witness' family physician. Witness had told a lady of Dr. McCoy's visit, and she told Dr. Pipes. One morning the Doctor passed, and witness mentioned the matter to him. When Dr. McCoy called, witness dissuaded her mother and Mrs. Habberfield from signing. Witness didn't believe Mrs. Pipes ever made such a statement about her husband and Miss Greenlee; had she believed it she would have signed.

CHAMPIONING THE MARRIED TEACHERS.

Joseph A. Arkle was next called. He had a conversation with Dr. McCoy in 1887, at his store. Dr. McCoy brought up the subject of the trouble in the school, and said Dr. Pipes had been running the schools for a good while, and that he intended to run them now. At another time he said something about Dr. Pipes coming out of a house of assignation with a woman. The defense moved to exclude this, but the objection was withdraw. Proceeding, the witness again said Dr. McCoy said Dr. Pipes had been seen coming out of a house of assignation with a woman.

Q. Did he say who the woman was?

A. I don't remember who he said she was, only that it was a woman.

Q. Do you remember of other conversations?

A. No, not distinctly.

Q. Do you recall Dr. McCoy saying anything about Dr. Pipes in connection with Miss Greenlee or Miss Stephens?

A. Well, I could not say positively. There was one conversation, when I inferred from his remarks—[objection to inferences]—on the morning after the Board of Education met in 1887, the Doctor was in my store. At that time I had heard nothing whatever of any trouble, but I had read the account of the deliberations of the Board of Education at the August, 1887, meeting. Witness told Dr. McCoy he had seen he had championed the cause of the married teacher, the evening before. He said, "Yes, when its done to make room for an old —— to take her place." The defense moved to exclude this and the motion was sustained. On another occasion Dr. McCoy asked witness if he had heard anything regarding a scandal in the school. Witness said, no Dr. McCoy was witness' family physician.

HOW ONE STORY STARTED.

Herman Bentz had a conversation with Dr. McCoy regarding Dr. Pipes. It was on the street. Dr. McCoy said he had been told by Dr. Reed, deceased, that he had seen Dr. Pipes with "some trim little lady" going to a house of assignation. It was Dr. McCoy's supposition it was Miss Stephens, one of the teachers. Witness knew what was meant by a house of assignation, and defined such a place. There was other conversation with Dr. McCoy, but witness could not repeat it.

On cross examination witness said he had no relative attending the Eighth ward school. He could not say how the conversation with Dr. McCoy originated. Dr. Pipes and witness had a talk about the matter. Dr. Pipes had engaged witness to circulate a petition, saying something to the effect that money was no object if names could be secured. The Dr. Reed spoken of was Dr. Pipes' partner. Witness declined to circulate Dr. Pipes' petition because he wanted nothing to do with the matter.

THE PETITIONS.

Mrs. Louisa Habberfield had only a casual acquaintance with the two Doctors. When Dr. McCoy called on her to sign a petition against Miss Greenlee, he said she was not a fit teacher to have in the school. Witness asked why she was not fit, and Dr. McCoy said Mrs. Pipes had said she had caught her husband and Miss Greenlee in bed, and that since then the Doctor spent two or three hours a day with her. Once after, Dr. McCoy had called on witness, and asked if she had repeated the story he had told. Witness said no, it was Miss Custer, and then the Doctor said: "Well, if she said it, it won't amount to much, then." The Doctor didn't say why he wanted to find out. When the Doctor had called on witness, witness said she didn't know Miss Greenlee, and wouldn't sign for or against her. Then Dr. McCoy wanted to know if witness approved of that sort of a woman for a teacher, and witness repeated she did not know anything about her.

DIDN'T BELIEVE THE STORY.

John Walten said Dr. McCoy had conversed with him about Dr. Pipes, on two occasions. At the first, Dr. McCoy asked witness if he had heard of the scandal that was going around. Witness said no, and asked the Doctor who was in it. The Doctor said he would not tell at that time. At the second time witness asked about the scandal, and Dr. McCoy said it was in his own residence. Witness said he supposed he meant Miss Greenlee. The Doctor said it was Miss Greenlee and Dr. Pipes. He said I "had better watch my residence, and I could see for myself, that Dr. Pipes had been seen coming out of Miss Greenlee's residence at a late hour of night." Witness told Dr. McCoy to be careful what he said, as he didn't believe the story, and that witness would be on the other side of the question. Miss Greenlee was a tenant in witness' house. A motion by the defense to exclude this witness' evidence was overruled and excepted to.

WANTED A COMPROMISE.

Mr. D. W. Keifer had a conversation with Dr. McCoy about Dr. Pipes. The Doctor told him Dr. Pipes had brought suit, and witness was going on to repeat what had been said concerning Dr. Pipes, but happening to say it was since the suit was brought, the defense objected to this testimony as narrating events since the suit was brought, and arguments upon the point were had.

The Court allowed the evidence to go in, as tending to show malice. In this connection there was a lively verbal sparring match between Mr. Alfred Caldwell and Capt. Doverner, which grew so warm as to call forth a suggestion from the Court that the conversation would be more proper outside the Court House. Court here took a recess until 2:30 p. m.

On reassembling Mr. Keifer was allowed to proceed with his recollection of the conversation with Dr. McCoy. When witness learned the two parties were at law, he asked Dr. McCoy what the result would be. Then Dr. McCoy said he would be able to establish all he had said Mrs. Pipes and her son, John R., that he had gathered his information principally from them. Dr. McCoy said if Dr. Reed had lived he would have been enabled to prove the visit to the assignation house with Miss Stephens, in a buggy. Dr. McCoy also related to witness that he would be able to prove by Mrs. Pipes that Dr. Pipes and Miss Greenlee had been in bed together, and referred to a letter he had received from John R. Pipes. Proceeding, he said Dr. McCoy said that if all reports were true, Dr. Pipes was little better than "a conscientious libertine." [Laughter.]

On cross-examination witness said within a few days, in Dr. Pipes' office, he brought up the matter and suggested it would be a good thing to compromise the matter, as they were both fine gentlemen, etc. Dr. Pipes didn't take kindly to it, and then witness said "Dr. Pipes, do you know what Dr. McCoy can prove against you?" Dr. Pipes said: "Oh yes, I have a general idea." Witness had not been requested by Dr. McCoy to approach Dr. Pipes. No one had suggested the matter of a compromise to witness; what he did in that connection was of his own volition.

ABOUT A KISS.

Mrs. Miller had a conversation with Dr. McCoy, in witness' store, about two years ago. Dr. McCoy said the two women ought not to be allowed to teach, from what he heard from Mrs. Pipes and outsiders. Some of the school children said Dr. Pipes went in Miss Stephen's room and threw his arms around her and kissed her, before the children.

On cross-examination witness said Dr. Pipes said: 'How can parents send their children to such teachers?" Witness replied: 'If things are the way you say, it oughtn't to be allowed.

A NEWSPAPER COMES IN.

John Devine had a conversation in September, 1887, with Dr. McCoy about Dr. Pipes. It was in McCullough's drug store. The Doctor came across the street and showed witness a Chicago paper. Witness said he had heard all he cared to hear about the matter. Dr. McCoy said, "You haven't heard half"

The plaintiff asked for the paper mentioned by the witness, but the defense declined to produce it upon that sort of a demand. A subpena duces te cum was asked for, but before it was issued the defense said they could not produce the paper; the plaintiff ought to have provided himself with any paper they might have wanted. Anyhow, the trial could not be stopped to ask Dr. McCoy about a newspaper. The plaintiff concluded to do without the subpena and the paper, and the witness retired.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

Mrs. Custer said Dr. McCoy had come to her with a petition or list agreeing not to send the children to school any more. Witness asked why, and Dr. McCoy told what Mrs. Pipes had said about Dr. Pipes and Mrs. Greenlee.

THE PLAINTIFF ON THE STAND.

Dr. Pipes was sworn at five minutes after three o'clock. He had lived in Wheeling eighteen years. The effect of Dr. McCoy's stories had "soured" some of his patients and friends. They would pass him on the street and not speak to him. It had affected his practice very materially. From what he heard some families would like to employ him, but were afraid of the talk.

Q.—What has been the difference in your income, in money annually, before and after these stories?

A.—My business has not been nearly so large the last year or two, as before. I can only approximate the falling off. I am within bounds when I say I have done $1,000 less annually the last year and a half, and I think I would be within bounds should I say at the rate of $1,500 per year less than before the stories were put out.

Q.—How have the stories affected you socially?

A.—A very great deal. Many persons who used to come to our place now refuse, and many who used to speak to me now pass me by.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Q.—This suit has now been pending two years?

A.—Nineteen months.

Q.—You brought this suit for damages as a physician?

A.—Yes; and damages in social standing.

Q.—Then why didn't you compute your professional loss?

A.—Because I never thought I would be asked that question.

Q.—You didn't look over your books at all?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—And you are simply making a guess?

A.—I said I was approximating it.

Q.—But it's only a guess?

A.—I think I can make a pretty fair guess.

Q.—Who are the people who pass you without speaking?

A.—I said I could tell, but I don't want to.

R.—Well, let's hear their names.

A.—Well, one of the first I noticed was Mrs. John H. Hobbs. She used to be very friendly. I have treated them at times.

Q.—Who else?

A.—Mrs. Charles Hobbs.

Q.—Who else?

A.—Mrs. M. B. Stanver is another lady who wanted to get out of speaking to me.

Q.—Who else?

A.—Well, I don't like to mention these names. There is another lady—Miss Morrison. She greets me as though she was ashamed or afraid to speak to me.

Captain Dovener here made a remark, and Mr. Geo. B. Caldwell said: "If you'll keep quiet, and not commit an impropriety, which you know to be such, I'll be obliged to you." [Laughter.]

Dr. Pipes—Another lady who stopped speaking to me was Mrs. William Ellingham. Her husband re-introduced me to her.

Q.—Who else has stopped speaking to you?

A.—Another lady who seldom speaks to me now—only when I meet her squarely—is Mrs. Cole.

Q.—Now, do you know of any other reason than this "racket" why Mrs. John H. Hobbs stopped speaking to you?

A.—No.

Q.—Now, don't you know it was because your wife went to Mrs. Hobbs?

A.—No; I didn't know she went to her.

Q.—And didn't your wife go to Mr. Ellingham?

A.—I suppose you went to all the School Commissioners.

Q.—Might not the fact that your wife went to Mr. Ellingham be the cause of "the old lady" you mentioned not coming to you for treatment.

A.—I don't know; I attribute it to the school trouble.

Q.—Suppose your wife had gone to Mr. Ellingham and told him you had had unchaste relations with Miss Greenlee. Don't you think it would have been as likely to have influenced that old lady as any general news?

Capt. Dovener—That's a conundrum the witness don't have to answer.

Q.—Oh, if she had said I had unchaste relations with Miss Greenlee, that would have had its influence, undoubtedly.

Q.—You have said there were people who would have employed you, if it had not been for this racket.

A.—I said I had understood it from a reliable source. Certain persons told me that other parties would have employed me, but they were afraid to.

[This was wrangled over and excluded in chief, all heard by the plaintiff from others being struck out.]

Q.—Did any person tell you that they themselves had refused to employ you because of this school racket?

A.—I can't recall anyone telling me personally. That sort of thing generally comes from others.

Q.—Do you recollect, about the time this suit was brought, or before, about a talk with P. D. Dobbins, when you said the school trouble hadn't affected your practice, but had rather benefitted it?

A.—That was in the heat of the fight. McCoy was blowing off his whistle, and my friends were active, and I couldn't see that my business had been hurt. I have seen it since, however.

Q.—You have old patients drop off and new ones come, all along, don't you?

A.—Oh, yes, new families come in.

Capt. Dovener—Some die. [Laughter.]

Mr. G. B. Caldwell—Well, if you had been a doctor and they were your patients, a great many more would have died. [Laughter.]

Q.—Did Dr. Reed threaten to dissolve your partnership with him before this racket, on account of the practice falling off?

A.—No, sir.

Q.—That never occurred?

A.—No; that is the first intimation I ever had of anything of that kind.

THE LAST WITNESS FOR PLAINTIFF.

Miss Bickerton said Dr. McCoy had told her, about two years ago, that Dr. Pipes had told Mr. Gus Schultze that if he would go around with a petition he would give his daughter a position in the school.

Motion to exclude.

The Court—I suppose it should be excluded.

Mr. Russell—I suppose not.

Finally the motion was overruled and the witness went on. She said Dr. McCoy said Dr. Pipes had gone home from seeing a patient and got in bed with his wife and Miss Greenlee. He told his wife to move over, and she wouldn't do it and told him to get in the middle, and he did so.

On cross-examination witness said Dr. McCoy didn't say how he acquired his information. Witness was an applicant for a position as teacher, and afterwards got it. Witness took around a petition. Witness was willing to do that, and never shed a tear over it. Dr. Pipes used no threats.

The plaintiff here rested.

THE DEFENSE.

At 4:25 Mrs. Sarah Pipes, wife of the plaintiff, was called, but before she had been questioned the defense moved to exclude the plaintiff's testimony, as not making a case under the declaration. Overruled and excepted to. It was then moved to exclude the testimony of the witness Wilson. Overruled and excepted to. A motion was then made to exclude all the evidence except so much of J. A. Arkle's as related to the house of assignation, and a part of Miss Bickerton's evidence, on the ground that it varied from the statements of the declaration. Overruled and excepted to, with the understanding that the Court might change the decision after examining the notes.

The first question asked the witness related to the time when she had first heard rumors as to Dr. Pipes' relations with Miss Greenlee. The plaintiff objected to anything concerning rumors, and there was a red hot argument over this point. After this had lasted until 5 o'clock, the jury was dismissed for the day and the argument went on.

Mrs. Pipes will be recalled this morning.

The News of the Day Pointedly Paragraphed for Hasty Readers.

THERE were four cases in Police Court yesterday morning.

THE Whitaker mill shut down yesterday afternoon on account of the heat.

THE Council Committees on Health and Ordinances are called to meet to-night.

THE river marks on the landing last evening showed 8 feet 3 inches and falling. The Andes got away last evening with a good trip.

PAIGE, CAREY & Co. have a force of men at work building the incline from their stone yards to the water's edge. They will commence work on the piers in a short time.

KLEVIS, KRAFT & Co. are building a new $3,000 residence for Mr. John Myles at Edgington's. They are now at work on the new buildings for Messrs. Zoeckler and Stifel on North Main street.

THE two-story frame house of Harry Sayers, in New Martinsville, caught fire from a spark from the planing mill just opposite, yesterday morning. The kitchen was badly damaged. No insurance.

IT IS understood that Bertie Lawrence and Clara Belle have made another match for a three-days go-as-you-please pedestrian contest, to take place at New Castle, Pa., the last three days of this week for $250 a side.

ANNIE PORTER of East Liverpool, who was caught on the streets for improper purposes and who was arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning, was taken to the Home of Friendless Women by Chief Delbrugge.

A YOUNG lady, who is employed at Bullard's printing house, while walking past Seventh street, very narrowly escaped being struck by a rock which had been thrown by a blast from the new reservoir. A foot closer and she would have been crushed.

THE Operators and Miners' Committees, of the Pan-Handle district, met Monday to consider a scale for the ensuing year, formulated and presented by the men, but the operators refused to accept it, and the matter remains unsettled. The probabilities are that a strike will result.

AN OLD gentleman named Dixon, who lives at No. 3128 Eoff street, slipped and fell at the ferry landing in Bellaire, Monday evening, fracturing his thigh. He was taken to his home and Dr. Brennen reduced the fracture, and the gentleman, who is sixty years of age, is doing well.

JAMES HOLLINGER died yesterday of a severe attack of pneumonia. He was the oldest living son of the late Aunt Minty Hollinger, and was a colored man who had many friends among the white people, and was greatly respected by all who knew him. He was a popular employe in his brother George's barber shop.

THE team attached to Hanna & Clemans' delivery wagon, took fright while standing at the Panhandle depot yesterday afternoon, and started up Fourteenth street as hard as it could tear. The wagon collided with the lamp post at the St. Charles hotel corner and knocked it down. The wagon was pretty badly injured and the horses were somewhat bruised.

MONDAY afternoon a box car into which had been loaded five horses and several carts belonging to Mr. Hugus, a contractor, was standing on a switch below the B. & O. depot, when another car backed in, struck the car and smashed the top, knocking horses and carts right and left. An Italian was in the car at the time, but escaped unhurt, while several horses were bruised up, although the damage was not serious.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Marriage License Issued

The following marriage license was issued yesterday:

Stephen Dorvas, a native of Hungary, now of Wheeling, aged 23, and Mary Kovacs, a native of Hungary, now of Wheeling, aged 18.

A Possible Sensation.

It is possible a sensation may develop on the Island. Last evening indications were discovered in an out-house on Vermont street that a woman had given birth to a child therein. A search of the premises was made by the officials, but owing to the darkness nothing further could be learned. The house was fixed so that no one could disturb it, and the investigation will be resumed to-day.

Transfers of Real Estate.

The following transfers of real estate were left for record at Clerk Hook's office yesterday:

Deed made April 22, 1889, by D. Z Phillips, trustee, to Mary C. Rosenlieb, for lot No. 10, in Zane's orchard addition. Consideration, $100.

Deed made April 9, 1889, by James R. McCortney and wife to A. J. Cecil, for lots Nos. 67 and 80, in section C. of a plat of land in Tadelphia district. Consideration, $1.

An Awful Intimidation?

The hearing of Officer Geo. Gaus, charged by J. D. Maxwell with having on November 6th last, attempted to intimidate him at the Second ward polls, while officiating as a U. S. Deputy Marshal, came up for hearing before U. S. Commissioner Forbes, yesterday morning, and after hearing the evidence the case was taken under advisement for several days. It appears that Maxwell was standing in the way of voters going to the polls, when Gaus moved him on, and Maxwell waited until a Republican Marshal came in before he made complaint. Officer Gaus was recognized for his appearance.

Another Female Pedestrian Contest.

Another sixty-hour go-as-you-please pedestrian contest has been arranged to commence next week at the Capitol rink. Four cash prizes are offered, car tickets to all contestants, costumes and hotel fare. It is understood that Bertie Lawrence, who recently won two contests in the city, Lulu Gordon and Aggie Harvey, two of the girls who took part in the bicycle contest, Clara Belle, of Pittsburg, who was defeated in a 50-mile race by Bertie Lawrence, and several others have already been entered, while others will follow. The prospects are that the race will be a big one.

A Delightful Affair.

Mr. Will Kelly entertained a number of his young friends, last evening, at the elegant residence of his parents on Twelfth street. The younger members of Wheeling society were present in full force, and the gathering was a most congenial and happy one. The full Opera House orchestra furnished the music, and dancing was indulged in on the spacious floor of the billiard room in the top story of the house. The dressing of the ladies was very handsome and the gentlemen wore full evening dress; the house was brilliantly lighted from top to bottom, and the affair was a most delightful one. At midnight a very tempting feast of good things were served and enjoyed by all, and when the last guest lingeringly departed at an early hour this morning, Mr. Kelly had the satisfaction of hearing for the hundredth time that his reception had been an unqualified success.

Jun'or New Council at Grafton.

John D. Hall, Deputy National Councellor for West Va., Junior O. U. A. M., leaves this morning for Grafton, where he will institute Mountain City Council No. 14, this being the fourteenth Council in the State. The new Council starts off with 146 charter members and promises to outnumber Wheeling Council No. 1, which has 241 members.

Columbia Council No. 8, located at Mannington, will assist in the institution, and the boys at Grafton are sure to get a good send off.

The several American orders in the city have appointed committees to work up a grand parade on the 30th of this month, it being Decoration Day, and it is hoped that the several orders will put their shoulder to the wheel and make it a day that will be remembered.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE MINISTERS TO THE MONETARY WANTS

Of the Various Wards in the City—Some Get What They Ask and Others Get Left—A Hard Tussle With Figures Over.

The Council Committee on Finance met again last night, at the City Hall to renew work upon the appropriations for the current fiscal year. The committee had put things in such shape at last Friday's session that it was enabled to at once enter upon the work of making appropriations for street improvements. The various sums available for work coming under the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Works were:

Appropriation fund	$47,499 97
Market street	15,853 69
Ten cent levy fund	23,326 54
Contingent fund	23,704 05
Making a total of	$110,384 25

The first formal appropriation made was for the Market and Tenth street paving, it being the item of $15,853.69, contained in the above table. The committee agreed to give priority to the appropriations made last year, but not expended, and with this in view the report of last year's Finance Committee was taken up, and the first item coming under this head, the graveling of South Front street, was approved and $150 appropriated therefor. The next item was the paving of short Coal street. For this work $500 was set aside last year. Being interrogated, Mr. Harrell said some macadamizing had been put on the street, and other streets in the First ward needed money more. For paving Alley 3 and the construction of a sewer, $350 was allowed. When the item of $2,961.24 for curbing and gutters on the Island was reached, Mr. Maxwell asked for and obtained, in lieu thereof, $2,801 40 to be expended as agreed by the Board of Public works on South Penn street. In the old ordinance there was an appropriation of $1,300 for paving Eoff street, from Eleventh to Twelfth street. Only $400 of this was used, and the Second ward was allowed $1,400 to pave the piece of street named with fire brick. When the item of $2,548.23 for Island curbs, appropriated last year and only $700 used, $1,000 was set aside in lieu of it, to grade South Broadway, from Virginia to Zane street. On the last year's item of paving Market street from Fourth to Fifth, with cobbles, being taken up, Mr. Harrell said that part of the street above alley 2 didn't need anything but a little curbing, but the rest of the street was in very bad shape. He would like $800 for it. This was allowed. The item of a 12-inch sewer on Twenty-sixth street, from Chapline to Market street was changed to 18½ inches, and $350 allowed. For paving Alley 18, with brick, from Main to Water, there was an appropriation last year. It was placed to the credit of the Fifth ward, for Twenty-first street, to be taken up later. The sum of $1,200 was set aside for the extension of Main street, from the ravine north. This concluded the unused appropriations of last year, and $16,525 14 had been appropriated out of the ten cent levy fund, and $1,350 from the general fund.

These appropriations left a balance of $17,025 14 in the ten cent levy fund, and $46,149.97 in the appropriation fund. At this stage a communication was read from the Board of Public Works, calling attention to the condition of the Seventeenth street bridge, saying it was in an absolutely dangerous condition, and recommending that $200 be at once appropriated to lay a new floor. In this connection Mr. Happy addressed the committee, saying the east pier had settled about eight inches in the past four months, which subjected the bridge to a great strain. The stones of the piers were crushing and falling out, and the bridge was liable to fall at any moment. He submitted statements from Engineers Hoge, Smith and Peterson, condemning the bridge.

Mr. Happy was followed by Mr. Seeley, who said the question was: Can this Finance Committee appropriate enough money to build a new bridge out there, at once? Did not the general interests of the city demand that some brick paving be dropped out of each ward, and the money used to put up a bridge? He dwelt upon the reports of the engineers, and said if the bridge was in that condition had not the members, as city representatives and not ward representatives, drop some pavements and put up the bridge. The bridge matter was thoroughly debated, and the $200 for the new floor was appropriated, to be available at once. Then on motion of Mr. Seeley, the sum of $18,000 set aside for the bridge, the understanding being that the Wheeling and Harrisburg Railroad Company's proposition, made to the Board of Public Works some time ago, in which they agreed to build the bridge in accordance with their regular railroad specifications, was to be accepted by the city.

A communication was read from the Board of Public Works, in which it was stated the B. & O. R. R. Co., has agreed to come to grade as given them by Council in 1882. On Chapline street, the grade will be lowered about 12 inches, and at Crumbacker's corner, where the ice house stands, about 18 inches, and the Market street crossing 4½ inches. The Board stated the cost to the city would be about $600.

The communication was laid on the table.

The next matter brought before the Committee was for the paving and curbing of Jacob street, from Forty-fifth to Forty-eighth, to complete that street to the city line. Mr. Schrebe made a long argument in favor of it. The cost, as estimated by the Board, is $4,062. Mr. Tracy was opposed to the matter at this time. He said the Eighth ward got $12,000 last year, while the Second ward got but $500 and the First ward $300.

Mr. Pollock favored Mr. Schrebe's request. He thought the paved thoroughfare ought to be run through.

The motion prevailed, the money to come from the general fund. This left $23,947.30 in the general fund.

The First ward was then taken up. The total amount asked for the ward was $3,626 22, divided among half a dozen items. The items were allowed.

Then came the Second ward. Mr. Tracy asked for $500 for paving alley C with cobble, from Tenth to alley 7; and a five foot brick sewer down Twelfth street from Chapline street to the river, $10,508—proposing that this last item be divided between the Second and Third wards. The two items were passed in that shape, and the credit belongs to Messrs. Tracy and Pollock, who fought for the improvement.

For the Third ward Mr. Pollock asked for $1,20 for a brick pavement from Chapline street to Main street, on Alley 9, and $954 25 for paving South street, from Main to the B. & O. depot. But the last item was exchanged for $1,313 10 for South street, from Market to Sixteenth street, credited up to the Fourth Ward, it being acceptable to Mr. Farrell. Mr. Farrell then asked for $5,591.28 for Jacob street, from Sixteenth to Nineteenth street. This was knocked out. He then asked for $690 70 for sundry sewers, and got it.

In the Fifth ward, Mr. Seeley asked for the paving of Twenty-first street, from Main to Market, $1,000; and for miscellaneous items of curbing, &c., $1,447.69. He got it all.

In the Sixth ward, Mr. Wilkie asked $2,580 for the paving of Twenty-seventh street, from Main to Chapline street, and to finis South Main street; $3,731 63 for cobbling McCulloch street from Twenty-ninth to Thirty-third streets; and $500 for macadamizing Twenty-ninth street. These items were allowed.

Mr. Tracy then called attention to South Chapline street, and said it would only take $6,700 to complete the thoroughfare, and put up a bridge over Caldwell's run. This was allowed.

Mr. Maxwell asked for $2,220.91 for a sewer from Broadway to the river, through Zane's addition, and for a sewers from North Huron street to the Back river. Allowed.

Mr. Schrebe asked for $300 for curbing on Eoff street, from Forty-fifth to Forty-eighth. Allowed.

Mr. Harrell asked for $200 more for the north end of Coal street, making it $6,000 in all. This left $2,889.41 in the general fund, which was added to the city's contingent fund. The contingent fund of the Board is untouched.

The Chairman of the committee, City Solicitor White and Mr. Maxwell were instructed to have the ordinance revised and printed for Council, and the committee adjourned.

In Memoriam.

At a special meeting of the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Association of Wheeing, the following sentiments were expressed and adopted in memory of our much lamented sister, the late Mrs. Pauline Rosenburg, who died at the age of 45 years, Saturday night, May 4, 1889.

The demise of our dear and beloved sister, who has been President of our society, has caused grief and sorrow in every heart; it is keenly felt by each and every member, and we all, individually and collectively, have indeed sustained a great loss, in being deprived of a true and faithful companion and friend, both in joy and sorrow.

Mrs. Rosenburg was a true and devoted wife; she was as kind and tender a mother as ever lived, a noble and self-denying sister and a righteous woman in Israel. Her cheerful spirit manifested itself in her smiling face, which even death could not take away from her, and with which she brought life and sunshine wherever she went.

Her death creates not only a void and irreparable loss in her own much esteemed and beloved family, but it is felt throughout the city among the various denominations, many of whom gave evidence of this during her sickness, as well as at the day of her funeral.

We offer our deepest sympathy to the bereft family, and we pray that God may send them consolation and comfort to bear the visitations and trials of the world with calm and pious resignation as it behooves true Israelites.

It was resolved that the foregoing sentiments be published in the Intelligencer and REGISTER of this city, and the same be spread on the minutes of our society and a copy be handed to the family of our departed sister.
